'Underground Aerial' BART Station Proposed

For Daly City

Less Expensive Than Previous Recommendation

By FRANK LaPIERRE

BART's engineering consultants have recommended an "underground aerial" station for Daly City, it was learned today.

The revolutionary design will cost an estimated $700,000 less than the previous proposed aerial station for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's.

Tom Kuesel, of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas, will present the new plan at a joint meeting of BART and Daly City today.

Kuesel said the station will be similar in design to the aerial facility that has been insisted on by BART for the past several months, however, it will be located in a "shelf" cut into the side of the hill adjacent to the Junipera Serra Freeway.

"The station will be below ground and will not be seen from either the freeway or areas above the station area," Kuesel said.

The controversy between the city and BART over the design of the station has been raging for several months. BART has based its insistence on an aerial station on the shortage of money, claiming an underground station would cost considerably more than an aerial station.

And while Daly City has been equally adamant in its argument that such an above-ground station would downgrade the surrounding area, they have little power to dictate what BART will build on the 13-acre site.

The best Daly City could do is throw a few roadblocks in BART's path by refusing to close several roads through the site, thus delaying the completion date possibly by several months.

But the new compromise may avert this and bring the city and BART together, engineers feel.

What makes the station appealing to BART is the low cost, while Daly City may go along with the design, provided the engineers can prove it will be out of sight.

If the terminus station is constructed above ground, any future system running down the Peninsula would likewise have to be aerial—at least for a couple of miles through a commercial section of the city.

Daly City officials said they want to avoid this and vowed to fight "all the way" any attempt by BART to "force an aerial station on us."

DALY CITY MAYOR Bernard (Bud) Lycett was unanimously nominated for the chairmanship of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors during a meeting last week in Burlingame. (See related story page 5.) The nomination is expected to be voted on during the Council's next meeting May 24.

Bruno's Council Approves Flood Control Proposal

San Bruno councilman Monday approved a plan to finance a $700,000 flood control project with money from the city's general fund. Under the new plan, adopted after voters turned down a proposed $800,000 bond issue to finance the project residents of the San Bruno Flood Control District, which includes some areas outside the city's boundaries, will repay the loan through a special property tax.

The new tax "will not exceed 10 cents per each assessed valuation," according to city officials, and the loan will be repayed at the rate of $35,000 per year.

The tax rate will be established by terms of an agreement between the city and the San Bruno Flood Control District, according to city officials.

City manager Gerard Vergeer is meeting with County officials this week, and the agreement is expected to be finalized within a few days, according to city spokesmen.

The San Bruno Flood Control District was formed several months ago, prior to the unsuccessful bond issue attempt, by the County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors serve as directors of the flood control district.

S.F. STATE BACKHANDS LEO RYAN

Assemblyman Leo Ryan today was voted the "second most dangerous man in America" by students at San Francisco State College.

Ryan's office received the telegram on Tuesday saying that the Democratic Assemblyman had chalked up 6,762 votes in the contest by the student body to select the ten "most dangerous men in America." First place honors reportedly went to either Dr. Max Rafferty or draft director Lewis Hershey.

Ryan aroused the ire of students last year during campus disturbances when he threatened to lead a legislative battle to curtail campus funds.

Impasse On Arterial Ends

An impasse that has stalled construction of a vital cross-country arterial — Westborough Boulevard — has apparently been broken.

The County Board of Supervisors agreed to a cost-sharing plan proposed by Mayor Frank J. Bertucelli of South San Fransico and urged the city council to do the same as soon as possible so that work can get started.

The county was prepared to start construction of a million-dollar link of the thoroughfare between Junipero Serra Freeway and El Camino Real but the project was snagged over South San Francisco's insistence that 12-Mile Creek be enclosed and channeled under the roadway. County Engineer Don S. Wilson was willing to include that work in the plans of South San Francisco would pay the extra cost, estimated at $182,000. The city, however, insisted that the work was an integral part of the road project and should be paid for by the county.

Chairman James V. Fitzgerald of the county board suggested that the dispute be submitted to binding arbitration but Bertucelli came up with the compromise proposal instead.

The proposal is that the county will contribute $50,000 toward the $182,000 cost of the drainage

Take Census At Pacifica For Gas Tax

Pacifica officials are keeping their fingers crossed this week as census takers "enumerate" the city's population in an attempt to gain more gas tax revenues from the State.

About 30 enumerators, headed by census supervisor Beverly Veress and crew leaders Sharon Affeltranger, Ruth Viviani and Linda Jamison, began knocking on doors last week, and the project is expected to be completed in about 14 days.

The census crews are working out of a Eureka Square office provided without charge by Challenge Managements, Inc.

The new census was ordered by the council after Community Development Director Robert Keyes suggested the city "stands an excellent chance" of receiving additional revenues when the results are in.

Pacifica now receives $13 per resident in gas tax funds, based upon a 1966 census setting the population at 33,800.

Keyes said he is almost certain the current census will show some increase.

In addition to the "nose count," census enumerators are asking a few other questions "to give the city direction in future planning needs."

Serramonte Tract Sewerage Project Is Pushed Ahead

E. V. Schulhauser & Associates have pushed the new sewerage project for Serramonte and surrounding areas six months ahead of schedule it was announced today.

The ultimate 21,000 population and huge regional shopping centeer will create large quantities of sewerage that will be processed by the North San Mateo Sanitation District at its Westlake treatment plant.

Solving the sewerage problem in the Serramonte area was an engineering feat from inception. How to provide facilities for the flow of the sewerage from Serramonte to the processing plant in Westlake was a primary problem, engineers said.

A predominant question was should pumps be built, with vast operating costs for all time to come, or could a gravity flow system be developed?

Schulhauser insisted gravity flow could be a reality and proceeded to develop the master plan. But, first there had to be a temporary system to take care of the sewerage until the gravity flow system could be completed.

If the construction of new homes had started in the northern end of the Serramonte community it would have greatly simplified the task of the developers in putting together a temporary sewerage system. However, because construction in the southern part of the tract was mandatory a temporary system including pumping plants connecting to the Westborough. water district force main on Skyline Blvd. was a necessity, the firm said.

The temporary system relied on two pumping stations — one adjacent to the Mary's Help Hospital, at Southgate and Cerro Avenue. The station was eliminated in 1965, however, when permission was granted by the state to lay an oversized main under the projected interchange for the Junipero Serra and Cabrillo freeways.

With the elimination of the pumping station on Cerro Avenue, the previous limit of 280 homes in Serramonte was lifted, thus additional construction could begin.

Seven Girls Enter 'Miss D.C.' Contest

Seven girls have entered the "Miss Daly City" Pageant, Chamber of Commerce officials said this week, and more entrants are expected before the May 23 deadline.

The seven entrants registered this week are Melodie Franklin, Sharon Fisher, Linda Hebert, Linda Lippi, Dorothy Barragan, Cornelia Carson and Kathy Scanlon.

Applications to enter the pageant are available from a number of Daly City business locations, including the Chamber of Commerce office at 6454 Mission Street, the First National Bank building and The Post.

To qualify, girls must be between the ages of 16 and 25, never have been married and have resided in Daly City or Colma for the past six months.

Winner of the "Miss Daly City" title will receive a number of prizes and merchandise orders from merchants in Daly City and Colma, and will also represent the city in the Floral Fiesta and Dream Girl contest at the San Mateo County Fair this summer.

DOLLY'S GIRL

Can Try For National Title

Winners of both the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored "Miss South San Francisco" Pageant and Dolly Schumacher Drew's "Miss Industrial City" Pageant will be allowed to enter next year's "Miss San Mateo County" event, officials of the Miss America preliminary pageant pointed out this week.

The Miss South San Francisco contest is run as a preliminary to the County's Fiesta "Dream Girl" contest, with each city providing an entrant, and one of these Fiesta "Princesses" becoming the "Dream Girl" for the county fair and Floral Fiesta each summer.

The Miss America contest, on the other hand, traditionally has had an open field, with any girl allowed to participate, providing they are not involved in a different pageant within a specified time period.

An official of the Miss America county contest indicated that the door still was open to Dolly's entry next year, and she appeared to indicate that the Miss America contest was now delegating its franchise to city contracts, in a discussion with a Times reporter.

Mrs. Robert Kestler, secretary for the "Miss San Mateo County" Pageant board of directors, said the winner of Mrs. Drew's pageant and any other county girl who meets individual qualifications will be able to enter the Miss America preliminary competition next year.

"Ordinarily, our pageant is operated on a contractural basis, with only one girl from each city allowed to participate," she related. "However, because of internal problems, the board failed to issue contracts this year."

The "Miss San Mateo County" Pageant is a preliminary for the "Miss California" Pageant at at Santa Cruz and the "Miss America" Pageant at Atlantic City, N.J.

There remains a question as to whether the winner of Mrs. Drew's pageant would be allowed to participate in the

Judge Reisch Opens Drive For Office

DALY CITY COUNCILMAN Micheal R. DeBernardi kicked off his write-in campaign against Assemblyman Leo Ryan (Dem. Twenty-seventh Dist.) by distributing instructional pamphlets on how to enter his name on the ballot during the June primary. DeBernardi needs a minimum of 886 write-in votes to qualify for the November run-off elections. The councilman was unable to have his name on the ballot because he had changed party affiliations (from Democrat to Republican) less than a year ago.

Superior Court Judge Conrad B. Reisch has announced the opening of his campaign for the office he now holds. Judge Reisch has been presiding in the Domestic Relations Department of the Superior Court of San Mateo County since February, 1968. He will be on the primary election ballot, Tuesday, June 4, as the incumbent judge.

Judge Reisch, prior to his appointment, was active for the past 14 years as an attorney in San Mateo County with the firm of Reisch and Sherman, South San Francisco.

He served as city attorney for the cities of Pacifica and Brisbane. For many years he had been assistant city attorney of South San Francisco, and general counsel for the Bayshore Sanitary District.

Judge Reisch has been active in professional and civic affairs in the county for many years, having been a past president of the North San Mateo County Bar Association; member, board of directors, San Mateo County Bar Association, and member, California State Bar Association.

He was a member of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers and served in the city League of California Cities.

He served on the executive committee of the Governmental Research Council since its inception and is a member of the San Mateo County Development Association.

Campaign offices have been opened at Tenth and El Camino Real, San Mateo. Judge Reisch said that county-wide committees in his behalf will be announced within the next few days.

Judge Reisch has been a member of the executive committee, American Red Cross, and on the board of the United Cerebral Palsy Association. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce of South San Francisco and Pacifica, as well as the South San Francisco Lodge of Elks and the South San Francisco Exchange Club. He is a past president of the South San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Judge Reisch served in the U.S. Army Air Force in World War II; held the rank of captain and flew combat missions in Italy, winning the distinguished flying cross and three air medals.

Expectant Parent Class At Hospital

Expectant Parent Classes are being offered at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City for residents of San Mateo and San Francisco counties.

The next series of five classes on consecutive Tuesdays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. will begin on May 7 at the hospital and will be conducted by various staff members of the hospital.

The philosophy and tradition behind these classes is that of family-centered care, offered so fully through the years by Mary's Help Hospital. The purpose of this pre-natal education program is to help both the mother and father anticipate the event, to acquaint them with the hospital itself.

The classes answer such questions as : How long will I be in the hospital? What should I expect about my stay there? Who will be taking care of me and the baby? How do we care for the baby after the stay in the hospital?

The first class deals with general information. It acquaints both expectant parents with all details related to the hospital stay. Session two, which offers a film, explains the mechanisms of labor.

The third deals with nutrition. A film is also shown at this session. A tour of the hospital for both expectant parents is planned as the fourth class. Bathing the baby is demonstrated in the last session. Refreshments are served at all classes.

work, with the city paying the remainder. The county will do the engineering work and will include in its plan any other work the city requests and agrees to pay for. When completed, the county will assume the maintenance and operation of the drainage facilities as a responsibility of the County Flood Control District.

The city is negotiating with Caesar Callan Homes, developers of the Westborough subdivision, for construction of a four-lane divided expressway between Junipero Serra and Skyline boulevards. Negotiations on cost-sharing are based on the theory that the developers should pay for the cost of a normal street, and the public agencies for the additional cost to accommodate traffic generated outside the tract.

Under the proposed agreement between the city and the county, the county will pay 75 per cent of one-half of the city's share of the expressway, plus 40,000 for miscellaneous costs.

NEW DECORATING HINTS

Drapery and curtain manufacturers are making matching wallpaper for those who want this effect. It is also very smart to line the drawers of dressers, chests, and night tables with this matching paper.

One lady greatly improved her bedroom, which contained a six-piece walnut suite, by painting the night stands avocado green to pick up the color in her drapes and bedspread.

If you're tired of seeing glue, thumb tacks and scotch tape all over the walls of your children's bedroom, try attaching a piece of fibreboard on the back of a door and use it as a bulletin board.

Do you find your white doors covered with fingerprints? You can cover them with white, washable, adhesive-backed vinyl paper.

If use use non-washable wallpaper or fabric on a much-used area, you can spray it with clear plastic coating.

Add a decorator touch to your outdoor patio umbrella by putting ball fringe or tassels around the edge.

Casualty In Phone Strike

Another casualty of the phone strike was Harvey. J. Marston, 28, of San Francisco, who was treated at Mary's Help Hospital Monday after a car ran over his right foot.

Highway patrolmen said Marston was on picket duty at the PT&T plant on Bryant Street in Colma when a car driven by an employee, Elizabeth Jean Wasson, 34, of 138 Bruno Avenue, Daly City, started through the line into the parking lot. She was inching her small foreign car through the group of pckets when Marston suddenly called out:

"Hey, lady, you're on my foot."

SSF High Boosters Invite Public

Ralph Iacini was installed president of the South San Francisco High School Boosters Club for 1968-69 at the recent monthly meeting of the group.

Baseball coach Robert Brian officiated at the installation of Iacini and all the officers for the coming year, including William Ergas, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Cooper, treasurer; Mrs. Alphonse Seubert, secretary; and Mrs. James Keane, assistant secretary.

Installed on the board of directors were James Geane, Richard Venters, Mrs. Nelo Tonegato, Frank Verducci, Gus Henning, James Villanueva and Robert Parr.

The Boosters sponsor five dinners during the year, when trophies and awards are presented to athletes in the various sports.

The club also provides films for all coaches and has installed a new scoreboard in the boys' gym, a whirlpool bath and a press box at Clifford Field. Traveling bags, soccer nets and balls are other items contributed to the sports program by the club.

Jail conditions were criticized recently by a survey committee headed by Mrs. Dianne Feinstein. She urged Alioto in a meeting at a civic function to hire such an officer.

Wires Going Underground

A "pilot project" to underground street light wires along a 1,000-foot stretch of Park Plaza Drive near Daly City was approved last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

The board took the action in their capacity as directors of the Colma Lighting District.

Placing the wires underground will cost the taxpayers of the district $1,295 more than placing the lights on traditional wooden poles with overhead lines, County Engineer Don S. Wilson told the supervisors.

The stretch of Park Plaza Drive extends from 87th Street to the Daly City boundary and passes between the Garden Village and Benjamin Franklin schools. Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald noted that the street, which connects Broadmoor with the Westlake Shopping Center, is presently "uncluttered" with utility lines and urged the board to take the opportunity to get started on a policy of requiring undergrounding whenever possible.

Supervisor Jean Fassler wanted to delay action until talks could be held with Daly City officials. She said the street will go into Daly City some day. Fitzgerald, however, declared that the board should assert its policy regardless of Daly City's feeling in the matter.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair suggested that the county should adopt a policy of paying out of general funds the difference in cost to the local area when it is the county board that requires undergrounding.

County Manager E. R. Stallings recommended against that, however, pointing out that it is county policy to require undergrounding in all new subdivisions and such a policy might encourage subdividers to demand that the county pay the difference in their projects.

"You might be opening a box that would be pretty hard to close," Stallings said.

Wilson said there are no poles along the street now and the P.G.&E. would put up wooden pole lines at no charge to the district. The board chose instead, however, to have steel poles put up with the lines hidden beneath the ground.

Bruno Man Is Arrested

A 45-year-old operating engineer, Samuel Edward Brewer, 147 West San Bruno Avenue, San Bruno, was arrested Sunday on a charge of "unlawful interference with a fire alarm box."

A spokesman for the San Bruno fire department said units responded to a 5:29 p.m. box alarm at San Mateo and Kain avenues.

A witness, the fire source said, pointed out Brewer as assertedly having pulled the alarm. Brewer was walking down the street in the area with a friend when he was arrested.

Firemen said Brewer's hands were covered with a purplish dye — placed on fire alarm boxes as an aid to identifying persons who pull alarm box handles.

Brewer posted bail of $625.

Threatens Suit on Pacifica

A Pacifica man Wednesday told members of the council he intends to enter suit against the city over remarks made two weeks ago by City Atty. John Sherman.

John Davis, 1150 Escalero Drive, a principal in a recent neighborhood hassle over parking on the street, said Sherman stated at a public meeting that "my neighbors should do everything possible to make life miserable for me."

The council enacted an ordinance amendment prohibiting parking on Escalero after residents complained about Davis parking "five or six cars and a tow truck" on the street.

The city began posting "no parking" signs on the street this week, and several of the residents complained about the parking ban Wednesday.

Herb Long, of 1236 Escalero, told councilmen they are "creating a worse problem than the one you intend to solve" by imposing the ban.

"Many people in the neighborhood will have to park their cars on different streets and leave them vulnerable to vandalism or theft," Long said.

Vice Mayor Harland Minshew and other council members said they "never really wanted to impose the ordinance, but Davis left us no alternative."

Councilmen agreed to consider lifting the parking ban "after a moratorium period," if the residents resolve their differ-

$12,000 Fire In Daly City

A smoky fire caused an estimated $12,000 damages to a Daly City home yesterday.

Six pieces of fire equipment manned by 15 men quickly extinguished the blaze which started in a refrigerator motor in the kitchen of the home at 1270 Southgate Avenue.

The fire burned a large hole through the floor under the refrigerator, a fire department spokesman said.

Most of the damge resulted from the heavy smoke, according to the spokesman.

THE PENNEY STORY

"One eye on quality; one on price"

By ROBERTA NASH

More often than not, in a store's newspaper advertising, the emphasis is on the price of merchandise, for this is the news that readers want to know.

But the Penney people want to be sure you understand that this emphasis on price does not represent the thinking within the Penney organization. The thing that makes Penney wheels go round is value, or what you get for that low price.

"We have to keep one eye on quality and the other on price," is the way one of our buyers put it.

"Witness" Supervisor Moves

Roland E. Collier, circuit supervisor of 16 San Francisco and Peninsula congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses, has been transferred to Southern California, according to an announcement by William Thompson, presiding minister of the local Daly City congregation.

Collier assumed new duties in Ventura Tuesday. He was replaced here by Lowell K. Yeatts of San Diego.

Collier has completed plans for a semi-annual circuit assembly for local Witnesses to be held, May 24-26, at the Winterland Arena. According to Thompson, the gathering is arranged to advance Christian Bible education and to train Jehova's Witnesses to be better equipped for their ministry work in the community.

In his last news release before leaving the area, Collier said that a large group from Daly City would be delegates. He said that the convention theme is, "Strengthening One Another to Remain in the Faith."

Commenting on the theme, he stated, "Many people today are losing faith in God and His Word, the Bible, because of the very critical times in which we live. It is the responsibility of every Christian to not only remain strong in the faith himself, but, to strengthen fellow believers so that they also, will maintain their Christian identity."

Army Major Wins Top Unit Award

TORREJON DE ARDOZ, Spain — Major Lovell O. Spackman, whose wife, Audrey, is the daughter of Mrs. L. W. Gregory of 161 Poplar Avenue, San Bruno, has been recognized for helping his unit earn the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Major Spackman at Torrejon AB, Spain, in a unit of the Military Airlift Command's 322nd Air Division, will wear the distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration.

The 322nd, headquartered at High Wycombe Air Station, England, was cited for achieving an exceptionally meritorious rating from May 1 to June 13, 1967.

During this period the air division participated in Pathfinder Express, an airborne training exercise which took place in Spain, with Spanish paratroopers participating. The exercise was called the most successful operation of its kind ever held by U.S. forces in Europe.

The 322nd also aided in the evacuation of dependents and non-combatants from areas of the Mediterranean threatened by the outbreak of hostilities in the Middle East.

The major, who was commissioned through the aviation cadet program, served in the China-Burma-India Theater of Operations during World War II and is a veteran of the Korean War.

A graduate of South San Francisco High School, Major Spackman attended Moorehead State College.

Cities Told 'To Push Or Get Pushed'

The cities of San Mateo County better get together and decide at least the minimum requirements of what they want out of regional government — or they may well have something shoved down their throats from Sacramento, Mayor William R. Lawson, outgoing chairman of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors, warned at a meeting in Burlingame last Friday.

The mayors were not entirely in agreement, however, and Councilman R. D. Martin of Burlingame, a member of a five-member, five-county committee investigating the Association of Bay Area Governments, appealed to the mayors to present any complaints to him.

Citing a meeting last week called by Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, Dawson said, "We should present a positive program; we should take positive action otherwise we are going to get knocked on the head."

Ryan, the North County's representative in the State Assembly, is a member of a joint state Senate-Assembly committee investigating the need for Bay Area regional government.

Appealing for the mayors to come out for a regional proposal, Lawson appealed:

"Then we can give a push to the things we want in regional government. Unless we push something — then we are likely to be pushed. The assemblymen and the senators have a staff, and the staff must say something.

"But we do not have to agree 100 per cent. I want the city councils of San Mateo County to take a positive position."

Martin, noting "the too many ramifications, the too many shadings to too many questions," said to attempt a "yes or no answer would be ridiculous."

"I do say this," Lawson retorted, "that the legislative committee is going to do this or that, and you are going to get something you may not want."

Councilman John J. Murray of San Mateo agreed that if local officials do not take a stand they may have "something put on them they do not want." He urged recommendations for a regional government be submitted to the Regional Planning Committee.

"We must bring out our cities' opinions," Murray appealed. "We must bring out statements allowing for differences."

Martin suggested that a committee be set up that can agree upon minimum specifications for recommendations.

"This we can say we want," he appealed. "This we can say we don't want, and then let the cities decide the rest."

In other actions, the mayors' council:

Nominated Councilmen W. H. Diederichsen of Burlingame, Robert Garvey of San Mateo and Herbert G. Petersen of Redwood City to replace Kenneth Van Gundy of San Mateo on the West Bay Rapid Transit board of directors.

Nominated Andrew Rocca of South San Francisco and Mayor Morton L. Podolsky of Belmont to replace resigned Mayor Sid Herkner of Redwood City on the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board

Named Mayor Bernard Lycett of Daly City as the new chairman of the Council of Mayors.

Looks Back, Motorcycle Hits Auto

Frank C. Duhring, 20-year-old clerk of 1216 Crampton Road, Redwood City, was seriously injured Sunday when his motorcycle crashed into the rear of a car on Cabrillo Highway in Pacifica.

Highway patrolmen said the car, driven by Andrew C. Turner, 51-year-old car dealer of 1011 Big Bend, Pacifica, had been stopped in traffic and was just starting up when it was hit from behind. Duhring told officers that he had taken his eyes off of the road to look back for a friend on another motorcycle.

The victim was pitched onto the trunk of Turner's car and then to the raod. He was admitted to Mary's Help Hospital for treatment of a broken left leg and other injuries. His condition was reported to be satisfactory today.

Another cyclist, Jack O. Kelso Jr., 21-year-old mover of 1719 Louvaine Drive, Daly City, was less seriously injured when his motorcycle crashed on a dirt road on San Bruno Mountain. Kelso, who was released from the hospital after treatment, told officers he was trail riding and was thrown off of the motorcycle when he tried to jump a dirt mound.

Charles Benedict Arnold, 40-year-old cook, was treated at Mary's Help early Sunday for injuries sustained in a crash on Cabrillo Highway at Devil's Slide. Officers said he apparently fell asleep while driving northbound and his station wagon struck an embankment on the east side and then bounced against a bank on the ocean side.

New Mayor's Big Plans For Pacifica in 1968

To the joy of practically everyone present, new Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust announced at last week's council meeting that all future meetings during his year as head of the city's government will be terminated at 11 p.m.

The Pacifica Council has been rivaled by only Brisbane among North County cities for "marathon" meetings, and many sessions in the past have run into the small hours of the morning.

Gust's policy decision is expected to encourage more citizens to appear at the council meetings to make oral presentations.

The "oral communication" portion of the council meetings comes near the end of the agenda, and in the past it has been necessary for those appearing to wait five or six hours or longer to make their presentations.

Also, the late sessions have represented a hardship for persons with council business who must work the following day after a meeting, Gust said.

The council will presumably hold extra study meetings to make up the time deducted from the regular sessions.

In another move to "attract more active participation in the affairs of city government," the new mayor announced a plan to shift the meeting site from place to place, "to give residents of each neighborhood an easier opportunity to attend at least some of the meetings."

The neighborhood meetings would be held at the city schools and recreation centers under Gust's proposal.

The new mayor unveiled a number of other new programs for the coming year, including a proposal for a "town hall meeting" for adults similar to the highly successful meetings held during the past two years for the city's teen-agers.

He also suggested that the council consider limiting commission appointments to two terms, and also consider restricting councilmen to two terms in office.

Gust said the city's most serious problems during the coming year will result from a shortage of adequate revenues, and he suggested several possible programs for alleviating the money problems.

"We should encourage our residents to shop at home as a first step toward raising additional funds," he said, "and I intend to ask the Chamber of Commerce to revitalize its 'shop Pacifica' program."

Gust said he feels more local business, rather than an increased sales tax, is the best solution for the city" fiscal situation.

source suggested by the new mayor met with immediate opposition from Vice-Mayor Harland Minshew.

This was a proposal that the city "investigate the feasibility" of taking over water service in order to increase revenues.

Minshew said he thought taking over an existing service "simply for the purpose of making more money" would be an undesirable move.

However, in a following discussion Gust said he thought the city could provide more efficient service "and make money at the same time."

Another proposal relating to the city's financial situation was a suggestion that a committee of local bankers and businessmen be appointed to review "ways and means" of raising additional money.

"I'm afraid our tax increase this year is going to be a real shocker if something isn't done soon," the mayor said.

Gust, elected to the council in 1966, was named mayor by unanimous vote of his fellow councilmen Monday night.

In presenting his proposals for the coming year, he asked for a "unified effort" from the other city officials "in solving our many problems."

THE POST AUTO WORLD

. The two-millionth Mustang rolled off the assembly line at Ford's Dearborn, Michigan plant this week, just four years and one week after the car was introduced to the public.

Acknowledging the sales achievement of the Mustang, Lee A. Iacocca, executive vice president — North American Operations of Ford Motor Company, said that "never before has an automobile such impact on the industry."

"Mustang reached the 100,000-mark in less than four months and established a record of almost 419,000 sales in the first 12 months it was on the market," he continued.

The tremendous demand for Mustangs had required added production and within 10 months, Mustang production had been extended to Ford assembly plants in Metuchen, New Jersey, and San Jose.

Iacocca pointed to continued sales strength for Mustang due to the large owner body, high average resale value and steady consumer demand.

Iacocca added that an important part of Mustang's success is traceable to "repeat" buyers — "people who have bought their second and third and fourth Mustangs."

The two-millionth Mustang will be presented tomorrow to a lucky participant in the "National Mustang Roundup '68," a week-long program that has attracted thousands of Mustang owners to San Francisco to celebrate Mustang's fourth "birthday."

The "gold rush of '68" is not confined to the international monetary front. It's "on" in car colors, too.

For the first time in 10 years, white has been supplanted as the favorite exterior color for Chevrolet cars. The top choice now is a "solid gold Chevy."

This is true for five of Chevrolet's six lines of cars, said E. M. Estes, the division's general manager.

"Ash gold" is the top preference of customers in the standard Chevrolet, Chevelle, Chevy II, Camaro and Corvair, Estes said. The gold color preference, covering the first half of the 1968 model year, ranges from a high of nearly 18 per cent in the standard Chevrolet to 14.6 per cent for the Camaro, he said.

Even though dark green is first choice with Corvette buyers, he pointed out, bronze ranks second.

With gold as No. 1 choice overall for Chevrolet lines, white is second at about 11½ per cent of the total and medium blue is third at about 10.7 per cent.

Line by line, the second and third choices vary, he said. For the standard Chevrolet, it is white second and medium blue third. For Chevy II and Chevelle, it's medium blue and white; for Camaro, red and yellow; and Corvair, medium blue and yellow.

Why the rush to gold in car colors? Maybe part of the answer, stylists say, is the rising popularity of black or white vinyl tops. A gold car makes an attractive color combination with these tops.

Comprehensive Education Plan at Jefferson High Lauded

By WILL E. THOMAS

Educators in the Jefferson Hig School District offices in Daly City's Westlake Shopping Center are sincere in the belief their schools are offering students good, well-rounded learning through the "comprehensive" approach to education.

Though their position appears to be softening — at least to the point they're willing to sit down and listen to the district's viewpoints, just as trustees of the district have expressed a willingness to help settle nagging differences — members of the Westlake Citizens' Steering Committee on the other hand have charged the education "is far from excellent."

To back up their premise that Jefferson District education is unlike that painted by Dr. Sanford A. Marcus, the citizens' committee spokesman, educators point to the five-year maximum accreditation it has earned.

Educators of the Jefferson High School District like the present "comprehensive" education program.

In the face of a recent Steering Committee's proposal that the new Serramonte High School should be an "academic" high school, unlike the "comprehensive" facilities elsewhere in the Jefferson High School District of Daly City and Pacifica, Dr. Harold Tonini has summed an evaluation of the Jefferson instructional program.

The district's philosophy, ponts out Tonini, is:

"Courses in the modern secondary school must be established to take into account a wide variety of abilities as well as a great diversity of needs."

He explains, "Our aim is to provide for all young people of the community a wide, rich, and stimulating progrm of education, determined by the needs of the young people of the area."

The district is "dedicated to the very important idea that each one of our students has equal worth (and) that we must insure that all students be given the opportunity to develop according to his ability," he says, in terms of providing:

—A general education for all the future citizens;

—Good elective programs for those who wish to use their acquired skills immediately on graduation.

—Satisfactory programs for those whose vocations will depend on their subsequent education in a college or university.

The list of what the student might acquire under the district's comprehensive environment is long, Tonini relates.

Included are:

Competence in the basic tools of learning, computation, reading, writing, listening, speaking, and observation, extension of their potential in academic achievement and vocational skills, selection and training for a suitable vocation, development of a respect for excellence;

The ability to think critically and be guided by critical thought; development of their physical and mental abilities, the realization of spiritual and moral values, learning to be intelligent consumers, growth in appreciation of the arts, respect and appreciation for human values and the beliefs and rights of others;

Growth in knowledge and understanding of forces that have influenced man, maintenance of an honest use of working time and worthwhile use of leisure time, the ability to use responsibly the democratic processes in defining their rights and discharging their obligations.

In refuting a Westlake Citizens' Steering Committee demand for establishment of an "academic" school at Serramonte — instead of the more widely used "comprehensive" education program, Tonini also cites statements from Dr. James B. Conant's book, "The American High School Today":

"I should not want to argue for the elimination of selective academic high schools in the cities in which these schools are now successful, but I would raise many questions about the establishment of such a school in another city of equal size and more serious questions still if such a school were to be suggested for a city served by only a few high schools.

"The comprehensive high school would seem to offer more promise for the improvement of American education than the introduction of selective academic high schools into communities where, hereto, they have not existed."

Tonini recalls that Dr. Sanford A. Marcus, acknowledged leader of the citizens' committee, charged:

"Accordingly, in its attempt to offer a good average education by the maintenance of the comprehensive high school concept everything has been based on average standards. We must no longer hold the student who is excellent to the pace set for the average student and, therefore, our plan 2, if you will, asks that an academic high school be set up in the . . . district."

Tonini also counters a Dr. Marcus claim that "We must tell you to our regret we do not find (the Jefferson schools) excellent."

Tonini says the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, the official accrediting association for the Far West, awarded each of the district's high schools "a maximum accreditation period of five years on the basis of the excellence of the educational program offered."

Miracle Coating Eliminates House Painting

American United Chemical Company has developed a remarkable product for exterior walls that virtually eliminates outside painting for many years to come and is factory guaranteed for 15 years. This product called GUARD-COTE, combines the long-lasting properties of fiberglass, asbestos, mica and perlite to make a wall surface that resists all climate extremes.

Throughout the Country

School boards have found textured coatings so economical and lasting over the past several years that they are now specifying this type of material for school buildings.

Many thousands of textured coating applications have been made on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, and these buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The United States Government and large corporation, such as Shell Oil Company, Pacific Telephone Company, and American Telephone and Telegraph Company, are using textured coatings. This remarkable exterior surfacing provides waterproofing, insulation, and beauty, far outlasting any ordinary paint.

GUARD-COTE comes in 12 beautiful decorator colors—and does not change the structural lines of the building. Actually it adds beauty to any home or structure and increases its value.

Water-proofs, Insulates, Fire Retardent

GUARD-COTE has the additional advantages of waterproofing and through the use of Silicones, a modern day scientific advance, a water repellent "blanket" envelops the entire building so that no moisture can penetrate and damage the interior of the home. Through the use of fiberglass and perlite, highly efficient insulating material, the building becomes cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

Factory Guaranteed

Every GUARD-COTE job is registered and factory guaranteed for 15 full years material replacement against chipping, flaking or peeling. It fuses itself to the wall surface to a thickness 15 to 20 times that of normal paint.

No Obligation

Applications of GUARD-COTE are being made in this area by MORSE BROTHERS, exclusive applicators of this remarkable product for Northern California. Free information on how easily you may have GUARD-COTE applied at low bank terms with no down payment may be obtained by calling collect PLaza 6-1341 (24-hour service) or by mailing coupon below.

Dolwig Pushes Staggered Hours Bill

By WILL THOMAS

The State Senate's Transportation Committee Thursday took "under submission" a bill by San Mateo County Sen. Richard Dolwig to establish a commission to study "and order" staggered working hours for employees of large firms.

Dolwig told the committee, of which he is a member, that the staggered hours plan would ease traffic congestion at peak commuter hours.

He explained that during the war years voluntary industrial staggered working hours worked "very sccessfully" to alleviate traffic congestion.

Under the Dolwig proposal a commission would be made up of supervisorial, municipal and highways division representatives. However, Dolwig agreed at the suggestion of one committee member to include representation from the business world, as well as rapid transit interests.

The commission would determine first if there should be staggered working hours in metropolitan areas and if so, how such a program should be implemented.

Many state agencies, Dolwig explained, presently have voluntarily adopted staggered work schedules, releasing employees at 4, 4:30 and 5 p.m.

"This is one reason we don't have more congestion in this (Sacramento) area," Dolwig pointed out.

Also appearing before the committee, of which Senator Randolph Collier is chairman, were representatives of the Stanford Research Institute, who spoke of its roles in surveying traffic problems.

A Stanford report also has included the possibility of staggered working hours.

The Dolwig bill was thought to be incomplete by some committee members, and there was concern advanced by one on the possibility of "encroachment of private enterprise" with such a measure.

Dolwig, an Atherton Republican, agreed, noting the general type of proposal he had offered was contrary to his own thinking, but that the traffic was a "real problem" requiring a measure "with some teeth in it."

Senator Collier, considering the proposal to be "not thoroughly thought out," ruled the bill —SB 520 — to be taken under submission by the committee.

In the meantime, Dolwig is expected to prepare necessary amendments to the bill in hopes of getting it out of committee.

Dolwig was not displeased with the committee's action, since it kept the bill alive.

Crestmoor Plans Its First Musical

Crestmoor High School, San Bruno, will present its first musical, "Bye Bye Birdie," on May 10-11 and 17-18. The popular satire on rock-and-roll singers appeals to all age groups in its comical entertainment.

Working together to produce the "best show in Crestmoor's history" is the production staff of: Robert Musser, general director and music director; Arthur Fischer, co-director of acting and technical and stage director; Elizabeth Barton, co-director of acting and publicity director; Robert Wait, art work and set designs; Carla Graham-White, chroeographer, and Quentin Goodrich, student assistant director in acting.

The lead roles of Albert and Rose, the promoting agent and his secretary for the "star," are played by Ernie Sandoval and Mary Anne Fabian.

Lynn Hale as Kim, Peggy Newell as Mrs. MacAfee, Bruce Burton as Mr. MacAfee, and Jim Thompson in the title role of the hip-swiveling singer, Conrad Birdie, are the secondary leads.

Other leads went to Cathy Marchand as Mae Peterson, Ron Wallace as Randolph, Wayne Winder as Hugo, and Paula Husack as Ursula.

Accompanying the orchestra on piano is Mrs. Janet Dobyns.

Students of Crestmoor High are putting a great deal of time, effort, and talent into a production that is sure to be something to be proud of.

Geography Class Learns of Africa

HELPING TO MAKE the transition between Westmoor's outgoing yearbook staff to the new staff was an all-day yearbook conference at the Hilton Hotel.

Accompanied by yearbook adviser Pete Zachariou, present staff members along with next year's newcomers participated in a conference which stressed and learned techniques in making a creative yearbook.

STUDENT-MADE PICTORIAL representations of Africa have turned Westmoor's enriched geography classroom into an African storybook, telling about Africa's beauty, its contrasting areas and its changing times, all through visual presentation.

Social Science teacher Miss Hildegard Seidel assigned her two freshmen enriched geography classes to display Africa as either a land of contrast, beauty or change. Using one of the three themes, students were to construct some visual project which would illustrate their topic. The students gained insight into the African way of life through making their own projects and by observing the work of fellow students.

Projects took the form of mobiles, charts, maps or magazine collages. Student Marilee Jeppsen constructed a mobile suspending paper-doll figures. The figures represent the population and are of different colors to show which race lives where and the population of each section of the continent.

A shadow box, designed by Rosie Regal, shows Africa in change. Complete with little figurines, the display compares education in Africa in the "dark ages" with that of today.

Another mobile, by Pam Jacobs, showing the contrasting aspects of the continent, displays pictures of jungle animals and the modern city.

Mike Garrity's project is two scenes depicting the typical way of life in a Hunter's Camp in the desert and an African Cattle-Herding Community. Population charts, tribal locations, and topographical maps were also constructed by some of the students.

Corresponding to the current unit on Africa, this type of assignment was not really new to the freshmen students. Prior to the African unit, the class was assigned a pictorial reviews on Asia in notebook form.

HARD WORK and good grades is rewarding especially to the Westmoor students who made honor roll during the third quarter.

Leading the list of students who achieved perfection were ten seniors. They are Kevon Cottrell, Dario Deghetaldi, Lawrence Diamond, Patricia Essa, Deborah Gill, Kathy Knowlton, Steven McBride, Daryl Schamitoff, David Smotkin and Donold Weiden.

Juniors followed with four students having straight A's, including Angeles Balagot, Kathryne Blume, Michael Brown, and Jeanie Olsen.

Overtaking the sophomores in the straight A race were three freshmen, Carol Gomez, Roseanne Regal and Mary Widtfeldt. Only two sophomores, James Esposto and Alan Hoffman, managed to achieve the perfect report card.

Girls overtook the boys, by three to one, with all A's except one. The boys are Rolan Akers, Glen Bjorkquist, Donold Blackfield, Craig Forman, Richard Giusti, Peter Hoover, Sheldon Klien, Daniel Mundstock, Michael Peters, William Puddy, Armin Reschke, Sidney Smith, and Scott Swanson.

Those girls having all A's except one are Barbara Bogatin, Cheryl Borders, Leslie Brodie, Kristine Carrillo, Debra Colombana, Elizabeth Columga, Karen Cook, Barbara Disque, Carol Friendman, Elena Grijalva, Cynthia Grines, Sharon Hamilton, Katherine Herald, Anne Hochstedler, Betty Hodgskiss, Patricia Jolly, Mariann Jorgenson, Elaine Katapodie, Carol Kelly, Beverly Kirshenblatt, Elaine Laingen, Cathy Meade, Donna Neugebauer, Jackie O'Brien, Janet Plant, Jean Ratto, Laura Rippon, Rebecca Rozman, Nancy Seager, Mary Simmons, Pamela Sousa, Susan Stoff, Melva Wills, and Rochelle Wolf.

Other students who made honor rolls had a "B" average.

VIA AN AIR CALIFORNIA JET, seven top business students from Westmoor flew to the Disneyland Hotel the weekend of April 20, to attend the Future Business Leaders of America State Convention.

Having won honors in typing and shorthand contests held on February 19 at Anderson High School for Northern California students, Mary Kirchman and Sue Keane became eligible to enter statewide competition in Anaheim.

Accompanying Mary and Sue were other members of Westmoor's FBLA, Joanne Cop, president of the FBLA club; Teresa Carley, vice president; Karen Jones, secretary; Dave Martinez, and Dave Kinkaid.

To help pay for Mary's and Sue's plane tickets and hotel accommodations members of Westmoor's Future Business Leaders of America sold student directories which they had organized and had printed.

Leaving early Friday morning for a weekend of competition and fun, these business students flew to Southern California with their sponsor Mrs. Sharleen Mahali, shorthand teacher at Westmoor. After having secured their rooms at the Disneyland Hotel and touring Disneyland, the students were invited to attend the general session that evening where they were welcomed to the state convention.

Afterward, a hootenany was held.

While the rest of Westmoor students went to a meeting and heard speakers talk of business careers and opportunities, Mary Kirchman and Sue Keane competed Saturday at Anaheim High School, where state finalists gathered. Mary was one of the top eight girls selected throughout California for typing. Sue, like Mary, was among the few chosen for shorthand.

Saturday evening a banquet was held for all the students. Here, awards were given to the most skilled typist and stenographer. New officers representing California's FBLA charter were chosen. Sophomore Dave Martinez was selected as an officer for the Northern California section.

With escorts from Kennedy High School, competitors danced to the music of the "Californians" Saturday evening at the "Sweethearts Ball," in the Embassy Room in Disneyland Hotel.

Pacificans Busy With Field Trips

Teachers in the Laguna Salada School District (Pacifica) believe strongly that classroom teaching is further enhanced and enriched when children have an opportunity to participate in well-planned study trips, according to district officials. It was revealed recently that many classes in the district have participated in field trips, especially during these spring months of the school year.

More than 100 sites have been visited, including areas throughout the Bay Area, and as far away as the state Capitol in Sacramento. Each school is presented with a budgeted sum to be used for study trips, and with this sum the staff determines the extent of the study trip program in each school.

Primary school children have been exposed to many areas studied in their social science classes. These include visits to local food markets, the bakery, firehouse, Fairyland Park in Oakland, the zoo in San Francisco, and a conducted tour of the Levi Straus Factory as an extension of their study of clothing. Some children have taken their first train trip, riding from San Francisco to San Mateo, and others have spent several hours on the Bay cruise.

Almost all kindergarten classes last fall visited the pumpkin patch in Half Moon Bay.

Other interesting and unusual trips taken this year by children at various grade levels included: Egyptian Museum in San Jose, Santa's Village, both Stanford and University of California campuses, the International Airport, Mission Dolores, C and H Sugar Refinery in Crockett, and the Bay Model in Sausalito.

Always popular with local children are the visits to the zoo, the tidepools at Moss Beach, the Academy of Science and the Planetarium at Golden Gate Park.

A novel excursion was taken by an upper grade class this year to the BART facilities in Concord as a part of their study of urban transportation and development.

Follow-up activities have been of many types: Discussions, experience charts, compositions, further reading, art activities and many other types of language arts experiences.

Prior to an excursion, teachers prepare their classes so as to attain the most educational benefits possible from such an endeavor.

This pre-planning includes discussion of the purposes of the trip, listing special tings to observe, setting up standards of safety and behavior, and often delegating someone to say "thank you" to officials conducting tours.

Many teachers provide children with questions for use while on the trip.

According to district officials, the evident popularity of the study trips attests to their value as an integral part of the learning experiences of children.

THE POST FAMILY LIFE

TERRA NOVA TOPICS . . .

By Alice Reichert

SKILLED TECHNICIANS in Manufacturing an X (S.T.I-.M.A.X.) is a wood shop company at Terra Nova. The class is organized as a fully structured company that takes in contract work to gain capital in order to manufacture an X. The wood shop is also contracted with the merchandising class, in order to sell this year's product X in the Deca Den (student store).

Product X for this year is a set of six coasters on a stand. They are made of ash, because through research, ash was found to be a strong, durable wood which is easily stained to resemble a dark walnut. The set sells for $1.49, which meets the cost of production and sales. It takes an estimated two minutes, 9½ seconds to produce each set, because the mass production scale is high.

To earn money for material to make product X, STIMAX contracts jobs for individuals, for products such as cabinets, tables, etc. Money earned from product X sales is handled by a majority vote of the members: for a party, toward a scholarship, more materials, or whatever the company reasonably decides.

Steve Scheppler, the woodshop teacher, acts as company advisor, board of directors, and the United States Government.

Other offices held in the company are:

Terra Nova Tigre Tales editor Maria Montenegro, and assistant editor Maxine Leibowitz, each have received college scholarships worth over $2,000.

Maria, former writer of this column, is headed for Stanford University. She's one of three of the last four editors of Tiger Tales to receive a Stanford scholarship. Maxine is bound for Cal.

BIRTHPLACE

The largest number of foreign-born residents of the United States come from Germany, about 4.3 million.

Resale Shop Has New Home

Family Fashion Fair, resale shop of the North County Auxiliary of the Family Service Agency of San Mateo County, will move to 346 El Camino Real, San Bruno, Wednesday. In order to facilitate the move, the shop is having a half-price sale at the current address, 621 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno, through Saturday.

The shop will have its grand opening Wednesday with local dignitaries and members of the board of the Family Service Agency, members and volunteers on hand for the ribbon cutting.

Hours at the new store will remain from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. It will also have the same telephone number. All proceeds from the sale of the donated clothing and other items benefit the work of the agency.

Mrs. Vincent De Rosa will serve as president of the North County Auxiliary after her installation May 13. She will be assisted by Mesdames John Mills Jr., vice president; A. O. Corey, treasurer; John Harn, secretary. .

San Bruno Women to Install Officers

Mrs. Dale Walker will be installed as president of the San Bruno Women's City Club at the Lazy V Restaurant in San Bruno on May 16.

Taking office with her will be Mesdames Albert Tognoli, first vice president; Harold Finch, second vice president; Ernest Grosskopf, recording secretary; Angelo Liberti, corresponding secretary; F. M. Coturri, treasurer; B. H. Hensolt, auditor, and Jan Voscus, historian. Mrs. Arthur Haugland, outgoing president, will serve as parliamentarian, and Mrs. John Perotti, as coordinator of the Crystal Springs Junior Club.

Mesdanes Haugland, Walker, Tognoli and Perotti represented the group at the convention of the Golden Gate District of the California Federation of Women's Club this week in San Francisco.

Prizes in the annual Easter bonnet contest for original designs went to Mesdames Carl Dahlen, prettiest; Voscus, funniest, and Liberti, most unusual. Judges were Mrs. Lynn Smith and Mrs. Craig Brown.

Cap Musicians Slate Concerts

As "Specturms of Sound" suggests, there will be a wide variety of music when Ralph Bredenberg leads his 100-plus bandsmen in the annual Capuhcina High Band's spring concert May 3 and 4 in the school auditorium.

Tickets are now on sale for the concert from any band member or by calling Cap's music department. Profits from the affair are earmarked for the Uniform Fund. So far, Cap Band boosters and band students have raised $4200 toward the $10,000 goal for new uniforms. Variety is the eky-note for "Spectrums of Sound."

The concert band will play the "United States Victory March" to open the program. During a group of rousing marches, Cap's six pretty majorettes will perform with a gun routine and Owen Bruce will be featured trumpet soloist. Accompanist at the piano will be Sandy Smith.

Last year's effective black light dance number initiated another, and majorettes will do a black light Mexican hat dance to the Cha Cha Twist. The stage band promises to swing the "Spectrum of Sound" to another level with blues and contemporary numbers.

Cary Tresser will be pianist, with the string section from Cap's orchestra, directed by Harry Spencer, joining the stage band and stage choir in four numbers.

Oceana High Plans Made For 6th Band Concert

May 8 has been set as the date of Oceana High School's sixth annual Spring Concert. The program, under the direction of Alan Harvey, will begin at 8 in the Oceana Gym at Pacifica.

Featured this year will be trombonist Rex Holmgren, a senior at Oceana. Rex has received many musical honors, including playing first trombone in the All-California High School Symphony in Santa Barbara. He will perform two movements of the Rimsky-Korsakov Concerto for Trombone and Band.

The Concert Band, now over 50 players, will be performing a variety of numbers including marches, contemporary band literature, transcriptions, and popular numbers. Featured will be "Chant and Jubilo" by Francis McBeth, and "Medusa's Head," by jazz composer-arranger, Bob Seibert.

A second soloist of the evening will be John Dahlquist. John is a senior pianist at Oceana, and will perform the popular "Malaguena" by Lecuona.

Oceana's 48 A cappella Choir, a group unique in Pacifica, will present a varied group of selections, ranging from Handel to the popular "Up, Up and Away." The choir has been widely acclaimed throughout the Pacifica area, and has already this year performed a series of eight concerts. The choir will conclude the first half of the program with the stirring "Dona Nobis Pacem" (Grant Us Peace) from Haydn's "Harmoniemesse."

A new group at Oceana which has been the surprise of the year is the Stage Band. The Stage Band, which performs jazz, swing and pop music, will be featured on the second half of the program.

NELL NORTON (Sugar 'n Spice)

Cookies and Cake

Good morning, good cooks.

The first item on the agenda is to inform you G.C.'s as to how long you are to bake the delicious Crazy Quilt Bread featured in last week's column. You bake it for 45 to 50 minutes in a 350-degree oven.

The second item bears out my contenton that Good Cooks are always ready, willing and able to help a cook in distress. I had requested a recipe for cookies using gelatin as an ingredient, and sure enough, A Good Cook came through.

Mrs. Lester Fuqua who lives at 738 Circle Court, in South San Francisco, sent this recipe:

CRISP PASTEL COOKIES

Three-fourths cup shortening (part soft butter)
½ cup sugar
1 pkg. (3 oz.) fruit flavored gelatin
2 eggs
2½ cups flour
1 teas. baking powder
1 teas. salt

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Mix thoroughly the three-fourths cup shortening with the one-half cup sugar, one package gelatin, two eggs and one teaspoon vanilla. Sift the two and one-half cups flour with the one teaspoon each baking powder and salt and blend into the creamed mixture.

(I found that the dough handled better when I chilled it in the refrigerator for about 20 minutes.) Roll the dough into three-quarter inch balls. Place three inches apart on ungreased baking sheet, flatten each with bottom of glass dipped in sugar.

Bake 6 to 8 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

When using Self-Rising Flour, omit baking powder and salt.

While we are talking about baking, and the oven's going, I'd like to pass along another delicious recipe for a pudding cake. My friend Ceil sent me the recipe and credits it to Mrs. Cecile Ryan, who lives in San Francisco.

CECILE'S PUDDING CAKE

1 pkg. yellow cake mix
1 pkg. instant pudding (chocolate or vanilla)
4 eggs
½ cup oil
1-cup water

In a large mixing bowl combine the one package cake mix, one package instant pudding, four eggs, one-half cup oil and one cup water. Beat three minutes with electric mixer.

Pour into well greased and floured tube pan and bake in 350-degree oven 40 to 45 minutes.

Allow to cool in pan for about 10 minutes, turn out on rack and cool. You may frost this cake or serve with a fine sifting of powdered sugar.

We've talked enough about cookies and desserts, how about getting down to some meat and potato recipes? This first recipe combines both meat and potatoes in one dish, and the result is delish.

STEAK 'N POTATO BAKE

¼ cup flour
1 lb. round steak, ½ inch thick
2 tbsp. oil
1 can onion soup
4 carrots, cut in 2 inch pieces
4 potatoes halved

Pound the one-fourth cup flour into the steak. Brown in the oil in an oven proof skillet. Add the one can soup and one-half can water, the carrots and potatoes. Cover and bake in 350-degree oven for 1 hour. Uncover and bake an additional 15 minutes. Top with parsley. Serves 4.

Spareribs are a great favorite in my home, so I was happy to find this new way to prepare them with a touch of Hawaii.

BAKED SPARERIBS "ALOHA"

3 lb. lean spareribs
salt and pepper
½ cup diced onion
¼ cup diced green pepper
2 cans tomato sauce
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
one-third cup vinegar

1-can pineapple tidbits and syrup (No. 2 size can)

Cut up spareribs into serving pieces. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in a shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven 350-degrees for 1¼ hours. Drain off excess fat.

While the spareribs are baking, combine the one-half cup onion, one-fourth cup green pepper, two cans tomato sauce, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one-fourth cup brown sugar, one-half teaspoon mustard, one-third cup vinegar and the can of pineapple tidbits, syrup and all. Set aside to allow the flavors to blend. At the end of the 1¼ hours of baking, pour this sauce over the ribs and bake about 45 to 50 minutes longer. Basting frequently. Makes 4 generous servings.

Baked potatoes go especiallywell with spareribs, along with a tossed green salad.

Speaking of the potato, this next recipe is for a very tasty way to use this old standby. The recipe comes from Mrs. Nonie Cannon of Los Angeles.

SKILLET SCALLOPED POTATOES

4 cups thinly sliced potatoes
1 can mushroom soup
two thirds cup minced onion
½ teas. salt
pepper and paprika
two-thirds cup milk

Melt two tablespoons butter in skillet. (Be sure to use a skillet with a lid.) Place two cups of the sliced potatoes in the skillet. Combine the one can mushroom soup, two-thirds cup milk, one-half teaspoon salt, pepper and the two-thirds cup onions. Pour one-half of this mixture over potatoes. Add the remaining two cup potatoes and the rest of the soup mixture. Sprinkle with paprika. Cover and cook over low heat about 40 minutes. Serves 4 to 6. If liquid starts to boil over, place handle of spoon between lid and skillet rim, to vent.

Mother's Day Gift Items at Book Fair

LOUANNE HEATH

CHANCES ARE, since the custom seems to have been overlooked in recent years, that no one has rung your bell and hung a basket of spring flowers on your door. It seems a real pity for so many North Peninsula clubwomen and civic leaders are deserving of a bouquet. In lieu of the real thing, therefore, let me bestow on all of you, a verbal bouquet, a thank you for dedicated effort on behalf of your community.

ARE YOUR CHILDREN searching for hints about what gift Mom would really appreciate for Mothers' Day? If mother enjoys reading she would do well to do a little "hinting" about the great bargains that will be available during the Friends of the Library Annual Book Fair to be held in the Westlake Mall on Saturday, May 11 between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

According to Mrs. Alvin Richter, books of every size and discription will be offered at prices ranging from 50 cents downward, just right for budgetwise watchers of every age! Proceeds from the sale go to make special materials available to the local libraries.

Mrs. Lincoln Walters is president of the Friends and she has taken personal charge of the sale. Assisting her are Mrs. U. R. Kendree, public relations; Robert Evans, physical arrangements; Mrs. William George, collection and pricing; Mrs. George Windhurst, cashier; Mrs. Vinton Stratton, personnel.

Collection of used books, hard and soft covered, as well as texts, children's literature and records is still in progress and anyone wishing to make a donation may do so by taking the items to any of the local libraries or the fire stations. Addresses of the librarie's are 275 Southgate, 6351 Mission Street and 129 Acacia Street. The fire stations are located at 191 Edgemont, 884 King Drive, 3001 Geneva Avenue; 400 Santa Barbara and near the corner of Lake Merced Boulevard and Alemany.

MRS. JOHN MADROSEN, formerly a leader in the Daly City Head Start Program and currently the director of the Lakeside Presbyterian Church Nursery School, has announced that her former employer, Supt. Frank Greenwood of the Jefferson Elementary School District will be the guest speaker when the nursery school parents hold their monthly meeting on May 7.

Greenwood will discuss "The Next Step-Indergarten."

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the social hall of the church.

THE ST. IGNATIUS BAND will perform for the members of the Ignatian Guild when that group meets next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

According to Mrs. Anthony Formosa, James Reitz, S.J., director of the band, will preface the performance with an address.

Honored guests for the evening will be the mothers of the band members and the mothers of life members of the California Scholarship Federation.

JOE DOVICHI, outgoing president of the Daly City Community Chorus, will be the installing officer when the newly elected officers of the chorus take over their duties tomorrow evening during ceremonies slated to get underway at 8 p.m. in the Westmoor Clubhouse, according to Mrs. Ellamae Scholtz.

A special social hour will follow the meeting. Mrs. Benjamin, Mrs. Adela Zamora, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Gillmore, Mrs. Ulrich and Mrs. Scholtz have prepared the installation decor and refreshments.

Kathy Bradshaw, supervisor of the chorus from the Daly City Recreation Department, will be guest of honor.

OILS BY JACQUELINE STEVENS, abstracts by Beth Hunton and watercolors and oils by Edward Cesena are featured in the art show currently on exhibit in the Art Gallery of the North County Mental Health Center, 45 Southgate Avenue, according to Mrs. Norman Beatty, volunteer coordinator of Art Shows for the Center.

Among those who will be manning the booths are Mrs. Francis Kelly and Mrs. Vincent Hussey, who will be located under a banner proclaiming El Bolero translated that means they will be selling records.

Ed Avanzino is the general chairman of the event which will run through Sunday evening.

Mrs. Joseph Tinney and Mrs. Frank Lawson are the co-chairmen of the dinner-dance benefit, which will begin with cocktails at 7:30 p.m.

Dancing will be to the music of the Maurice Wolohan orchestra.

Early reservations may be secured by placing a call to Mrs. Arthur Sullivan. Tickets will be sold for $25 a couple.

The evening will feature the voices of the North County Choraliers and the students of the Voice Workshop, all preforming under the direction of Patti Parks Stolz.

San Bruno AAUW Branch To Treat the Husbands

Members of the San Bruno branch of the American Association of University Women will treat their husbands to an evening at ACT's performance of "Don't Shoot Mable, It's Your Husband."

The event was planned by the evening book section of AAUW who traditionally invite husbands and friends to join them for a "light" dramatic performance during the spring.

Mrs. Gilbert Vieira, chairman of cultural interest, is making arrangements for members and their friends and families to attend San Francisco's Spring Ballet session.

Mrs. Vieira urges "If you think ballet is 'stuffy' and dying swans aren't your idea of an evennig's entertainment, or if you are married to a man who feels that way — then Ballet '68 could be a prejudice-shattering experience."

She urges members to contact her for tickets to this "unique experience in ballet."

AAUW will also be attending as a group the San Mateo County Junior Museum Auxiliary's Decorator's Show House Tour.

Prospective members, women gratuates of a four year accredited college, are reminded they are eligible to attend the above events through contacting Membership Chairman Mrs. Donald S. Barnhart.

The San Bruno branch includes members from Daly City to Burlingame.

Demonstration Of Opals For DC Rockhounds

Precious opal and the making of opal doublets is the topic to be expounded at the May 6 meeting of The Daly City Rockhounds, War Memorial Building, 6655 Mission Street, Daly City, at 8 p.m.

Beatrice Goodroe of South San Francisco, long-time rockhound, will present a short program on precious opal and how to cut and polish it to the best advantage, along with instructions on the proper way of making abalone shell triplets.

This term has nothing to do with birth control for abalone, but, rather, is a process of apoxying abalone shells between a thin piece of dark gem material and a thick piece of clear quartz, to give an effect of opal.

CDA Court To Meet Thursday

Members are asked to attend the meeting of Court St. Mary No. 1155, Catholic Daughters of America Thursday at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Hall, 80 Wellington Avenue, Daly City.

LEGEND

The Children of Ler were said to be three sons and a daughter of the Irish Sea god Ler, who were turned into swans.

THE JEFFERSON SCENE . . .

By Wendy Woolery

"AND IF THEY DON'T find my dear money, I'll hang myself . . ."

Those rather desperate words were uttered by Tom Winerhalter in his capacity as Harpagon, the main character of the latest effort of the drama department at Jefferson.

The title of the play is "The Miser," written by Moliere.

A French satirist, perhaps one of the greatest satirists of all time, Moliere ridicules a tight-wad who claims that he has no money. The situations encountered in such satire are hilarious and teach a lot. The cast of 14 Jefferson students began practicing in early March. It was presented in the school gymnasium April 18-20.

A pseview perfosmance was given fos the Executive Board, teachers, and drama departments from other schools April 17.

THE CHARACTERS

Harpagon	Tom Winterhalter
Elise	Irene O'Neill
Master Jacques	Mike Cowan
Cleante	Phil Carrubba
La Fleche	Rich Talavera
Valere	Rich Rocchette
Master Simon	Rich Ballerini
Frosine	Wendy Woolery
Magistrate	Cornel Cooper
Mariane	Sue Trefry
Mistress Claude	Julie Solomon
Brindavoine	Sandy Torrez
La Merluche	Donna Sena
Monsieur Anselme	Leon Colvin

EACH STUDENT at Jeff has a chance to express his talents which is one of Jeff's pleasures.

Talent does not go unnoticed, since one can participate in drama, band choir, or athletics.

The Marching Band at Jefferson entertained the student body with a concert April 25.

This new talent came in the form of principal Ernest Ribera, who accompanied the band in a few well-selected numbers, and then graciocsly took his bow.

TRACK, BASKETBALL, RALLY CLUB, and dance committees have highlighted the Jefferson career of our new vice president, senior Ron Capuz.

Ron has been active in school affairs since he was a freshman.

This year he has been active in "D" basketball, "C" track, Block J Society, freshman dance, freshman sales, the Model Senate, and was a first-period representative.

As a sophomore, he participated in "C" basketball, Block J Society, rally club, and the Spring Festival. With all these positions, Ron found time to give a helping hand in the Sophomore Dance. Ron enjoyed this year the best.

When Ron finally reached his third year, he moved to better things, such as junior class president, "B" track, junior dance, snow and ski club, Hyatt House dance, rally club, and the Junior Prom.

This year Ron is Student Body vice-president, whose job is to set up all agenda for executive board meetings, and to take over the president's duties when needed.

Ron plans to be a pediatrician, college-bound next semester.

Ron has a brother, Dennis, attending Jefferson, and a sister, Millie.

GIVING MOTHER a helping hand are Kathy, Terri and Ann Cooney, daughters of Mrs. Michael Cooney, who is chairman of the surprise booth for the festival at Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church in Daly City May 2 through 5. The parish hall will be transformed into Old Mexico for "Saludos Amigos" by Ed Cuevas and his art committee. A full course chicken dinner will be cooked and donated by Joe's of Westlake to be served in the school at 4 p.m. Saturday. For reservations contact Mrs. Rocco Picone or Mrs. Richard Dwyer.

Community Chorus Elects Mary King Its President

The Daly City Community Chorus held election of officers April 25 at the Westmoor Park Clubhouse.

Elected for the coming year are: President, Mary King; vice president, Edward "Skip" Papke; secretary, Ellamae Scholtz; treasurer, Frank Benjamin; publicity, Ellamae Scholtz; refreshments, Peggy Benjamin; librarian, Marge Somdahl; historian, Lee Puddy; social committee, Kay Ulrich; Joe Dovichi and Brenda Wells; sunshine, Janet Gilmore.

These officers will be installed on Thursday at the Westmoor Park Clubhouse by the out-going president, Joe Dovichi at 8 p.m.

Kathy Bradshaw, supervisor for the Daly City Recreation Department, will be the guest of honor and introduced to the members by Dovichi.

Decorations and favors will be done by Peggy Benjamin, Adele Zamora, Janet Gilmore, Ellamae Scholtz, Kay Ulrich and Brenda Wells. Refreshments will be served.

New members will be introduced by Sam Silverman, outgoing membership chairman, and anyone interested in joining the chorus are most welcome to attend and bring a guest.

Dennis Desjardins is the director of the D. C. Community Chorus and Janel Holden, accompanist. The Daly City Community Chorus is sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

The chorus members were dinner guests of the San Francisco Men's Club April 23.

George Eastland, secretary of the club, greeted them.

Dennis Desjardins led the following chorus members: Mary King, Lorie Smith, Grace Moore, Lee Puddy, Joyce Cornell, Ellamae Scholtz, Peggy Benjamin, Kathy Wells, Brenda Wells, Dick Neves, Sidney Bernstein, Doe Dovichi, Frank Benjamin, Edward "Skip" Papke, Henry Ayala and Chester Smith.

Extra entertainment was provided by a variety song and dance act by Brenda Wells.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

The Fireside Production Tomorrow's Amusement

IN CASE YOU'D LIKE TO SEE what the future holds for many in the entertainment world, drop in San Mateo's Fireside Lounge, where Jack McRae and Phil Maita, the "Mike Nichols" of the Peninsula and owners of this "outer space" nitery, come up with fantastic entertainment ideas. When entering the Fireside, you go into a "space world" — with entertainment gyrating in all directions. There is more form here than a baseball pitcher just completing a no-hit game. Everything and everybody swings. The cocktail waitresses zoom about like track stars; Phil, with his "Abraham Lincoln hair trim," divides his time between seating guests and office conversations with his "stars" — and you can believe each member of the cast is just that. This week's production is another "Rembrandt" in motion. Featured are Tamara, "The Bedroom Girl" (you will not sleep through this act); Janee, a pert Topless dancer who shakes like a wet towel pinned on a clothesline in a windstorm. Exotic "Angel" lends her "shakeability" to the scene in a very convincing manner (much to the delight of the audience), and the "Dance of Love" defies all adjectives. This is one you'll have to see to believe. Last, but far from least, the musical sounds of Jim and The Karats set the swingin' pace for the continuous entertainment.

Phil Maita

NO, NICK SBARRA and the Donati brothers haven't entered the jeep business. But after looking at the parking lot of their New Southern restaurant, last Saturday night, most people would have thought so. Instead of the sale of new and used jeeps, the occasion was the annual meeting of the "Jeepsters," a private club restricted to jeep owners. Over 150 proud drivers gathered for the evening in the restaurant's spacious "Southern" room . . . Last week's reservation list at L'Auberge in Atherton was blue-ribbon. Diners included Ernie "Pea Picker" Ford, artist Walter Keane, who enjoyed his farewell dinner before departing for Europe, and famed Hollywood character actor Mike Mazurki. All complimented Chef George Bolag's distinguished French cuisine and the service of Maitre d' Louis Frutschi.

"TOPLESS WAS A BIG BUST!" exclaimed petite Yvonne Modica, who, with the demise of The Chestnut on El Camino Real, will open a new bistro at the same site called The Soul Mateo. Scheduled for a Wednesday, May 1, opening, the club will feature "The Hopeless Sinners," one of the hottest "soul groups in California. Having the unique "Philly" sound, this is the same sensational group that kept the house jammed at Yvonne's Big Beat in Palo Alto. They will play for dancing Wednesday through Sunday. Minors (over 18) are welcome. Tuesday night is slated to be audition night for musical groups. No admission will be charged. The Soul Mateo will also be open for lunch, featuring pizza, a wide variety of sandwiches, beer and soft drinks . . . Taste tip: The perfectly-seasoned prime rib served at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City is as tender as a bride's "I do."

Yvonne Modica

LUCIAN PHELPS of Finocchio's colorful show, now world-famous as an outstanding female impersonator, has been booked as one of the feature acts for the third year in a row at the annual City of Hope Show, which will be held at Nourse Auditorium in San Francisco on May 9. Lucian's wry quips with ringsiders always enliven the four shows which are presented nightly at Finocchio's, where he is billed as the "male Sophie Tucker." Resembling the late Miss Tucker, Lucian's wardrobe is made up of many of her fabulous gowns . . . Joe Borges and Ben Muniz have signed up a new band for their rockin' Hi-Fi Room South, and they're asking their patrons to help find an appropriate name for the group. The "No Names," as the band is currently being billed, can be heard every Friday and Saturday night, as well as Wednesday night, when they play for the exciting mid-week dance contest. A $25 prize is being offered to the person submitting the best name.

Art Petri has scored a hit with the remodeling of his new Joe's of Hillsdale restaurant, a great place to enjoy a quick snack or a leisure meal in the busy Hillsdale Shopping Center. Featuring reasonably-priced Italian and Continental cuisine, a luncheon, dinner, or banquet here will be a memorable occasion. Specialty of the house is Veal Parmigiana, plus charcoal broiled steaks and a wide variety of pastes. Cocktails? You bet, plus well-appointed banquet rooms accommodating up to 125 persons . . . Rick Lavin, handsome plankman at the Blue Peacock in Millbrae, is now the proud father of a five-pound, ten-ounce baby girl. For the past few days, male patrons of the lounge have been smoking free cigars, compliments of Rick. Even the cocktails seem to have an extra zing.

Black Angus Plans To Open For Luncheon

Among the seemingly endless food items found on the buffet at San Mateo's Black Angus Chuck Wagon, last week, were garden-fresh artichokes, asparagus, cauliflower and broccoli. Add these to the outstanding list of daily dinner entrees, and you have the food ingredients for a successful restaurant operation. Announcement: the Black Angus will soon be serving luncheon.

The Union Squares are now a part of Mills Square, as the smooth sounding Las Vegas group play for dancing on Friday and Saturday nights in the plush V.I.P. Lounge. Norris Palmer, who recently acquired the V.I.P. and the adjacent restaurant, has not only added live entertainment, but originated the policy of serving meals in the lounge.

Harry Taffel, the plumber man who headquarters in San Francisco, held an elaborate birthday party for his daughter, Marilyn, at Lew Lehr's Steak House in San Francisco Marina. After the feast, Marilyn informed the Lehrs it was the most delightful birthday celebration she had ever experienced.

Zorba's Atmosphere Like Sunday Picnic

Alexi's Zorba Supperclub, Burlingame's answer to Greek entertainment and cuisine, is now featuring the exotic "Jamella," a VERY authentic Arabian dancer, and the famed Greek recording vocalist, Nitza Billis.

Although open not quite a year, Alexi's Zorba is already one of the most popular stops on the Peninsula's nitery and dine-out circuit. As the fun begins, the atmosphere suddenly takes on a Sunday picnic atmosphere, with everyone and his neighbor dancing hand in hand and clapping to the beat of the music.

The "Steppin' Wolves," nationally-known rock 'n roll group, were recent overnight guests at Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn in South San Francisco. They were in the area for a smash appearance at San Francisco's Avalon Ballroom.

"Shots in the Night": Ramon Navarro, one of the top name stars in the silent movie era, and popular restaurateur Phil Lehr were cutting up touches (and two Steak Wellingtons) at Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco.

Calorie conscious patrons may enjoy a filling but easy on the waistline luncheon at Oliver's in South San Francisco, where owner Fred Martinelli offers a "Dieter's Delight" (tomato juice, ground sirloin steak, cottage cheese and tomatoes).

Some kind of a record: Sil Oliva mentioned the other evening that 14 of his Exposition Fish Grotto employees have been on the payroll for 30 years. If any restaurant has a better record for longevity, "stand up and be recognized"

"ANGEL"

Bruno Scatena's Restaurant Empire

Much has been said of the newer additions in Bruno Scatena's restaurant empire (International Joe's and the Golden Coach), but not to be overlooked is the original Joe's of Westlake, which can certainly be considered a Daly City "foodmark." Tastefully decorated, the always-bustling restaurant offers dining room service, quick order counter service and a comfortable cocktail lounge.

Calorie counters, take heed: "Vince's Special" served at Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant contains all the necessary vitamins and gives you that GO-GO-GO feeling. Guess that's what keeps handsome Vince Licata in shape for those Las Vegas trips.

Donald Devoto New Manager Hilton Inn

Henri Lewin, vice-president of Hilton Hotels Corporation in San Francisco, has announced the appointment of Donald J. Devoto as manager of Hilton Inn at the San Francisco Airport.

"Under the new management," said Lewin, "major improvements such as the French Corner's new look will make the Inn one of the Peninsula's most attractive wining and dining spots."

The dining room of Romano's in Pacifica (seats up to 75 persons) is a replica of an old-fashioned Italian eatery. Located in scenic Rockaway Beach, just 20 minutes from San Mateo, Romano's is open from 4 p.m. on weekdays and 12 noon on Saturday and Sunday.

Gun fanciers should take a look-see at Lucien Sabella's gun collection, which the Fisherman's Wharf restaurateur has been collecting for numerous years. When the former A. Sabella's restaurant was destroyed by fire, some years back, one of the first "take outs" was his prized collection.

D.C. Officer Arrests Two

An alert Daly City patrolman arrested two youths Thursday as they allegedly attempted to flee a laundromat with an automatic coin-changer they had pried off the wall.

Officer Jim Baron said the pair was running down Geneva Avenue shortly before 1:30 a.m. with the changer from the L & G Laundromat at 2505 Geneva Avenue.

Arrested were Joseph Willis, 23, 204 Blythdale Street, and Walter C. Harris, 20, 55 Santos Street, both of San Francisco.

The machine with some $40 in change was recovered.

Officer Barron said an assortment of forcible entry tools was found in the pair's car parked nearby.

The first proposals in the plan to develop Jordan's Red Sea port of Aqaba into a great resort city by the year 2000 are now being completed.

S.S.F. Robber Nets $30

An armed robber held up a South San Francisco service station late Wednesday night, and escaped with $30 after threatening an attendant with a pistol.

Steven Ray Holm, 114 Green Avenue, said the robber entered Bob's Texaco at 1136 Mission Road as he was servicing a customer.

When Holm entered the station office, the man was standing by the cash register and holding an automatic pistol.

After emptying the register, the man fled on foot, Holm said.

The suspect was described as a "Latin type," and wore sun glasses and a short goatee.

Fact vs. Legend

The Senate sub-committee that met in San Francisco recently for hearings on the proposed Portola national historical site commemorating the discovery of San Francisco Bay should, and probably has, discounted the competing claim that the bay was discovered 190 years earlier by English freebooter Sir Francis Drake.

Although Drake later earned respect as an English national hero and as founder of the British naval tradition, there are historical doubts as to the accounts of his voyage along the California coast and his landing at a point he called "Nova Albion."

What is certain is that he looted, pillaged and burned unsuspecting New World communities and coasting vessels during that voyage and that he "excommunicated" his Chaplain Francis Fletcher who wrote an account of the voyage. With the passage of time Drake became a romantic character celebrated in many novels. The true facts and the fictions about him have often mingled.

In any case, the belief that he came into what Portola later discovered to be San Francisco Bay remains unauthenticated.

On the other hand, the discovery by Portola and his party from Sweeney Ridge in 1769 is meticulously documented and has repeatedly been found authentic in every particular.

The claim for Drake is, at best, a shadowy legend. The discovery by the Portola party is fact and well worth the commemoration of a national historical site. It is to be hoped that the Senate sub-committee will vigorously pursue the establishment of such a site.

'Brown Act' Pooh-Pooh

THE BROWN ACT might just as well be included on the burlesque circuit for all the respect it seems to be getting by many of our local city councils and other elected bodies these days. Many of these officials poohpoohed the law and, in fact, even go so far as to label it "stupid."

One favorite saying is that the Brown Act was passed into law by the State, but does not apply to State Legislators. Another guise is to call an "executive session" every time one of the staff or council wishes to talk about something they think the public shouldn't hear.

According to the Brown Act, an "executive session," closed-door hearing, secret meet, or whatever you want to call a meeting of our public officials which bars the press and public, can only be called DURING a regular, special, adjourned regular or adjourned special meeting to disclose pending litigation or "personnel matters." Even in the case of a personnel dispute the session can be open to the public if the persons (or person) involved desires it.

But nowadays it has become the fashion to call an "executive session" for anything — discussing appointents on the council, disagreement over awarding a contract, and in some cases even personal attacks on a fellow official.

For example, during a recent council caucus in the North County, the city attorney (of all people) asked the mayor if he could "talk to the council" after the study session was over "in private" about "something that might develop into a legal matter."

Come on now guys, how far out can this elastic law stretch? Just as far as the public and press will allow it.

First of all, a "caucus" is NOT a regular or special or adjourned regular or adjourned special meeting. It is simply a caucus! A study session where the staff and council (or other elected boards or appointed commissions) may get together BEFORE an announced meeting to discuss what will come before the panel during the formal session.

A caucus is an informal meeting and the public, press and others concerned have gone along with this practice for some time. Some disgruntled newsmen and public citizens, however, are now beginning to hold a few caucuses of their own concerning the caucuses.

Actually, the caucus sessions are good — and also necessary. They familiarize the council with what is coming up in an informal atmosphere and likewise let the staff know if they have prepared for the item to the satisfaction of the council.

But like Good Old Ralph M. Brown says in the Government Code (Chapter 9 meetings): "In enacting this chapter, the Legislature . . . declares that the public commissions, boards and councils . . . exist to aid the conduct of the people's business. It is the intent of the law that their actions be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly.

"The people of this State do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them. The people .... do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know. The people INSIST ON REMAINING INFORMED so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created."

That's what the law says folks. And if you think some elected body might be in conflict with the law you "may commence an action either by mandamus or injunction for the purpose of stopping or preventing violations or threatened violations. . . ."

PUBLIC INVITED — Mayor Bernard Lycett of Daly City has invited the public to attend a short film concerning rapid transit on the Peninsula set for May 6 at 7 p.m. in the Civic Center council chambers.

SICK CALL?? — Just heard that my old golfing instructor (and San Bruno councilman) Karney Barberian is heading back into the hospital for a checkup.

PETALUMA?? — Daly City Manager Ed Frank is proudly displaying four (count 'em) tickets to the National Arm Wrestling Championships in Petaluma (??). Ed, the strong right arm of the city, was formerly city manager of Petaluma??? And whattayyamean you don't understand the relationship? Gowan out and read the Peanuts comic strip.

AS A PARENT who welcomes the opportunity to visit one or two of the schools during Public Schools Week, we find interesting the samples of work we pick up in bits and pieces when touring rooms.

Teachers seem to take great delight in assigning poetry to students, who always come up with ideas, like these fifth grade works:

THE MOON

The moon is hanging in the sky,
While shiney stars are flashing by.
It comes out evenings, stays all night.
It's very pretty in man's sight.
The moon's a planet just like ours,
Tho' it has no birds nor flowers,
Yet it's so lovely out in space,
Big and round, like a face.

—David Boring

MR. SNOWMAN

Mr. Snowman.
White as a sheet.
When the sun comes out,
You'll run down the street.

—Brad Thomas

THE CARS

Cars, cars, over the hills,
And over the bridges,
And up and down
The hills and bridges and roads,
The water roaring against the rocks,
And the water splashing
And the cars rushing by,
And making you dizzy.

—Henry Gizzarelli

Bunny Loses a Round

The Easter bunny lost a round. Wellington, Kans., doctors insisted on what is proper AMA conduct, and asked the local Chamber of Commerce to go through more than 5,000 colored eggs to remove those with the names of doctors on them.

Chamber members had promised to redeem the eggs for a quarter when found by a youngster in an Easter egg hunt. It wasn't that the doctors couldn't afford the two bits. Their code of conduct forbids "unethical advertising."

And it would neither be dignified nor fair for a youngster to take his tonsillectomy to a competitor of the family physician just because his name appeared on an Easter egg.

Dancing With Astaire No Breeze

Fred Astaire is the treasure at the end of the rainbow for Barbara Hancock.

At 20 years of age she'd crossed most of the milestones dancers consider their goal including performing with the Robert Joffrey Company in New York and the Harkness Ballet Company, studying with both under scholarship.

Still shy, but considerably more experienced, she won out over 300 aspiring young ballerinas for the thrilling opportunity of co-starring with the master Astaire in Warner Bros.' forthcoming "Finian's Rainbow."

The Atlanta, Ga., girl had no idea Astaire was in the film when she danced for Hermes Pan and Director Francis Coppolo in Central Park. They told her to be free and natural and improvise. She dressed for the role of Susan the Silent in appropriate cosume and let herself go in bare feet. And because she hadn't yet studied acting, she got the role because she was unstilted in her interpretation.

"The most impressive thing about working with Mr. Astaire is that even during rest and lunch breaks, he's still rehearsing. He wears a hot costume, wool jerkins and shirts that are tight but he never stops trying to perfect a step. It's great discipline for me but it was very demanding, too," she commented without any trace of a Southern accent.

The lithe Miss Hancock is the only performer in the cast, with the exception of the children, who is younger than the director. At 28, Coppollo has only one movie to his credit, but "You're a Big Boy Now" was successful enough to earn him the $5 million budgeted musical. The Broadway play on which it is based opened in January, 1947, the same month and year that Miss Hancock was born.

MOST OF THE FILM WAS SHOT ON THE BACK LOT of Warner Bros. studio and at the Disney Ranch. It is an appropriate location since the film takes place in a mythical place called Missatuckey in the U.S.A.

"It's funny that they even thought of Finian's Rainbow 20 years ago, because it is so contemporary right now. Especially with the Negro angle, which they've left in," she added.

The Term, 'As Is'

QUESTION: I was told by the salesman that the used car I purchased carried a 90-day guarantee. Two weeks after I purchased the car it had to have major repairs. The company refused to honor the guarantee because it said the car had been sold "as is."

ANSWER: Too often the term "as is" involved in a sale becomes a cause for a complaint to the Better Business Bureau. When a customer buys something that has been advertised "as is," including a used car, the term "as is" technically refers to the terms of sale and not to the condition of the goods. A verbal statement by a salesman is not binding. Unless you find a guarantee on your purchase order, receipt slip or contract, you are out of luck. The Bureau suggests that in the future, have any agreement with a salesman put into writing and verified by the management before you agree to buy.

QUESTION: I received a letter from a specialty manufacturer saying that someone on his staff had confused my firm's name with a firm which had placed a large order for pencils. Because of this error I would be given a "bargain price." Is this a sucker deal?

ANSWER: It depends upon what you think is a bargain. The error mentioned must run into many thousands as Better Business Bureaus around the country report that a number of firms have received the same sacrifice offer.

QUESTION: I am a retired serviceman. Recently there appeared in the Business Opportunity section in our local newspaper an ad concerning a vending machine franchise guaranteed to produce "exceptional high earnings in your spare time." Can you give me any information concerning franchises?

ANSWER: Because of long experience with such promotions, the Better Business Bureau warns individuals to review "exceptional high earning offers" carefully. Obtain legal advice before signing any contract. Desirable locations for vending machines are limited in the present market. Established vending companies state that the inexperienced person may soon find the business unprofitable and the machines in his basement.

QUESTION: How much can subscriptions save me as compared with newsstand prices?

ANSWER: The average savings can be as much as 50 per cent. Solicitors should explain whether any saving claimed on an order is based on a comparison between regular subscription rates and newsstand prices or is based on a reduction of the regular subscription rates.

The Bouncing Viruses

Every year the medical doctors in America are asked to treat 227 million colds that are serious enough to restrict activity for at least one day.

A cold is defined as a contagious minor illness with running nose, stuffiness, scratchy throat, cough and little or no fever.

Colds are really just mild manifestations of a great many different infecting agents which may also cause such serious illnesses as pneumonia, heart disease (inflammation of the heart) and fever of the brain (encephalitis).

These viruses bounce from nose to nose through sneezes and coughs even through just talking. Many of them do not cause any symptoms but infect us and produce antibodies which protect against the particular virus invading again, for awhile at least.

THESE SAME viruses are not always so kind and gentle. Sometimes they lead to such troubles as acute respiratory illnesses, influenza, measles, pneumonia, strip throats, allergic diseases, tuberculosis, asthma, heart trouble and brain fever.

Yet Americans know very little about colds and viruses. This fact prompted John M. Adams, M.D. to write a book to tell the facts.

"My principal aim will be to focus on the newer knowledge of these common illnesses and known causes of many of them and to discuss the few diseases not caused by viruses but closely resembling those that are,"

Dr. Adams has filled his book with facts and presented them in simple language. It contains twenty-one chapters and a glossary.

Chapter 18 treats the management of a child's first cold. Chapter 17 discusses serious complications and after effects of colds. Chapter 3 tells of the lungs, the tonsils and adenoids and how they work. Chapter 9 is about summer colds.

Surely, Viruses and Colds, The Modern Plague is a book that should have a welcome place along side Sir Christopher Andrewes, The Common Cold.

While the two books are alike yet they are both worth reading. Sir Christopher's book contains an analysis of what produces the common cold, the effect of the seasons and the means of controlling a cold.

HE COMPARES cold treatments today with those of the past and writes a chapter to explain why the common cold is such a baffling disease. "The same germ," he writes, "can cause inflammation in your nose, your throat and even your lungs."

Your doctor's job is almost impossible Sir Christopher says. He must study your cold, classify it and prescribe a treatment. In no other field has medical science improved more. Once colds were treated by blood letting and by concoctions of crude materials—now there is evidence that modern science will master the common cold—at least control it.

Police Recruiting Is Difficult

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Nationwide recruitment of local police officers is being hampered because of poor pay and bad treatment by a segment of the general public, an expert in the field has disclosed.

Edward Toothman, of the Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training, indicated the stumbling blocks found on the path to present day recruitment of local police officers include an extremely competitive labor market (even unskilled labor often pays more), irregular work hours and over-all "better salary inducements offered by private industry for much less hazardous jobs."

Toothman hit out at a "segment of the general public" which has contributed to the difficulties being encountered in locating satisfactory recruits for law enforcement agencies by their actions. He did not elaborate.

Even the Federal Government was blamed for the decline in applicants.

Toothman said increasingly attractive law enforcement benefits offered by the Federal Government has turned many young applicants away from seeking a position with local agencies.

Speaking at a recent police recruitment seminar in Oakland, Toothman also noted that the military draft was responsible for depletion of some of the qualified labor force in the nation.

In California, alone, there are an estimated 1200 vacancies in the police ranks within 397 municipal police departments.

This figure is increasing almost daily, according to an authoritative source.

Because of the difficulty in Daly City's recruitment of police officers, authorization has been given for a special recruitment drive whereby various junior colleges and state colleges will be visited within a radius of 100 miles from the city in the hope of recruiting suitable applicants, Daly City manager Edward Frank announced.

Only those colleges having courses in police administration or related fields will be contacted. To date, both San Jose State and Shasta College have been visited, according to Frank.

Competition among various state and local agencies for the prospective officers is keen and often results in forms and announcements being sent to radio and television stations, educational institutions, municipal personnel departments and even military separation centers.

Departments such as Daly City, which have a two-year college educational requirement, find the field of qualified applicants reduced by as much as 70 per cent.

But Daly City has a couple of aces up its recruiting sleeve — its close proximity to San Francisco and the new multi-million dollar civic center (where the police station is located).

Armed with color slides, recruiters present a program to graduating police science classes. The results have been less than encouraging and there remain some 12 vacancies on the city police force.

Saturday, 30 applicants underwent the hours-long examination and testing for the police department. At the same time some 250 persons took the test for firemen. The fire department does not have any vacancies at this time.

Experts claim this is the general trend on recruitment for these two departments throughout the nation.

D.A. Chills Callan Car Wash Plan

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson ruled last week that Thomas J. Callan Jr. is not entitled under existing zoning to construct an automatic car wash on Eighty-seventh Street near the new city hall in Daly City.

The developer has applied for rezoning and a hearing has been scheduled for 2 p.m. May 14. Callan, however, insisted that the proposed use is allowed under the existing C-1 zoning.

Sorenson told the County Board of Supervisors that car washing is allowed in C-1 zones as an incidental activity at gas stations. But, the district attorney said, if the automatic car wash in to be the major activity, and the gas station incidental, as proposed by Callan, that will take C-2 zoning.

The County Planning Commission and the City Council of Daly City have recommended against the project on the basis that it would not be compatible with the surrounding apartment zoning and would tend to downgrade the area around the new city hall on Ninetieth Street.

The property Callan is seeking to rezone is on Eighty-seventh between Sullivan and Edgeworth streets.

Bortolazzo Will Return To Teaching

A reluctant board of trustees, by a vote of 3 to 2, Thursday granted Dr. Julio L. Bortolazzo's request to go back to classroom teaching after 12 years as superintendent of San Mateo Junior College District and president of College of San Mateo.

"We all feel very badly about this," Board President Carl E. Ward told Dr. Bortolazzo at the trustees' campus meeting. "We regret very much that this is your decision. But we have concluded we have no alternative other than to accede to your wishes."

So strongly did Trustee Robert A. Tarver feel on the issue that he voted against approval of the request simply because he did not want to see the district lose Dr. Bortolazzo's "outstanding ability" as chief administrator.

And Trustee Francis W. Pearson Jr. made the voting margin on the five-member board a razor-thin 3-2 when he also cast a negative ballot. "In good conscience, I cannot do otherwise," he said. "I feel that Dr. Bortolazzo should remain in his present role."

Action came after a month of deliberation by the board, which first received the request for reassignment on March 27.

Ward explained that the trustees "were unanimous in asking Dr. Bortolazzo to remain on the job. We again asked him to reconsider tonight. But he again said he wants to return to teaching."

Pacifican In Court After Police Attack

A young Pacifica man was arraigned in North County Municipal Court last Tuesday on a charge of attempting to take a prisoner from a police officer.

Frank G. Childers, 19, is being held at County Jail in lieu of $500 bail. He is to appear in court again today for appointment of an attorney.

Childers is accused of attacking Pacifica Special Officer R. B. Sinclair two weeks ago as Sinclair attempted to take another man into custody.

According to police reports, the special officer was forced to release his prisoner after Childers attacked with his fists.

Police said Sinclair was attempting to arrest Robert B. Turner, 1236 Hermosa Avenue, at his residence April 12 when Childers came to the suspect's assistance, telling the officer "there are more of us than you."

Turner was wanted on several traffic warrants, and had just eluded officers in a 90-mile per hour freeway chase, according to police reports.

Childers was arrested last Monday. Sinclair and another special officer spotted his automobile at the intersection of Linda Mar Boulevard and Alicante.

Ex-Capuchino Teacher To Research Post

Dr. Merritt E. Kimball, former Capuchino physics instructor, has been named to serve on the professional staff of the Ford Foundation to assist the Notre Dame Educational Association in the southern Philippines to improve pre-service and in-service training of teachers.

The work in this project will be funded by both the Ford Foundation and the NDEA. The Notre Dame Educational Association is a nonprofit educational organization made up of 11 colleges and 37 high schools.

Dr. Kimball has been active in science education and teacher training for several years, supervising new teachers at Stanford, teaching elementary science curriculum for the University of California and making appearances at San Jose State College, Santa Clara, and other institutions. He also serves on the executive board of the San Mateo Union High School District's Academy of Instruction. Dr. Kimball was at Stanford University as both a Shell Junior and Senior Resident.

Dr. Kimball taught physics at Capuchino High School in San Bruno, California in 1961, 1962 and 1963, where he distinguished himself as a teacher, scholar, and administrator.

In 1966, Kimball received his doctoral degree and was honored when his dissertation was named "the outstanding research in the field of education" by the California Educational Research and Guidance Association.

Dope Change Backed By Two

SACRAMENTO — San Mateo County's two state assemblymen both voted for a proposed law change which would give the courts the power to decide whether first time offenders of marijuana and drug possession should be convicted of a felony or misdemeanor.

Joining with 48 other colleagues in the bi-partisan vote were Carl Britschgi (R-Redwood City) and Leo Ryan (D-South San Francisco).

Colma Man Crushed In A Conveyor

A young Colma man was crushed to death by a cargo conveyor aboard a U.S. Navy ship at Alameda Naval Air Station Thursday.

Steven R. Bigham, 24, an employe of the San Francisco Elevator Company, was working on the conveyor machinery on the USS Aludra at Pier Two when he was killed.

Bigham, a two year employee of the elevator firm, resided with his expectant wife and son at 402 Ninety-first Street, Colma.

The accident is still under investigation by authorities of both the Navy and elevator company.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

Brush After Meals

Brushing after meals not only helps to remove food particles from which decay acids are formed, but also helps to remove the bacteria that are responsible for producing the acid. So get in the habit of brushing after every meal.

Brush Thoroughly

Even if you brush after every meal, success in preventing decay won't be achieved unless you brush thoroughly. Use a good toothbrush that is in good condition.

Please ask your dentist about proper brushing of teeth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extraction for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth, as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Men's National Potato Chip Cooking Tourney Gets Under Way Soon

Women of American—is your husband, brother, boy friend one of the nation's many cooking enthusiasts? Here is good news! The 9th annual Men's National Cooking Championship started today to find the best amateur male cook in the U.S.A. and crown him the 1969 National Cooking Champion. So get the man in your life to put on his creative cooking hat and start developing delicious original concoctions.

Entering the event is made easy by the sponsor, the Potato Chip Institute International. Any adult amateur male cook may compete for the coveted title by submitting an original main dish recipe with potato chips as one of the ingredients.

Here is the delicious all-year-round recipe created by engineer Irwin Schumacher who won $700 plus a vacation for his wife and himself in last year's event:

FISH 'N CHIPS SWEET 'N SOUR

2 onions, thinly sliced
2 lemons sliced
1-3 cup brown sugar
¼ cup seedless raisins
2 teaspoons salt
1½ lbs. or 6 slices whitefish or salmon
2 cups water
½ cup potato chips crushed
1-3 cup cider vinegar
¼ cup sliced blanched almonds

Combine the onions, lemon slices, brown sugar, raisins, fish, salt and water in a saucepan. Cook over low heat for 30 minutes. Remove fish and place on a platter.

Add potato chips, vinegar and almonds to the fish stock. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until smooth. Pour over the fish. Serve warm or cold. Garnish with fresh parsley and potato chips. Serves 6.

More than fifty substantial awards, including cash and vacation trips for two will be given in the 1969 Championship. The wives of both Irwin Schumacher and 1968 Cooking Champ Vincent Gentilcore successfully inspired them to enter their original recipes.

Contestants may send in as many main dish recipes as they desire before November 15, 1968. Mail recipes to the Men's National Cooking Championship, P. O. Box 933, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Women cooking authorities will do the judging. As the Championship progresses state and regional winners will be selected to compete in the finals to be held in the beautiful Marriott Hotel, Atlanta, Georgia, on Tuesday, January 28, 1969.

At a recent meeting of the International Society of Gourmets, one of the most interesting food experiments took place. Twenty different dips were prepared and each of the 235 men and women attending the conference were asked to taste and select their favorite. This indeed was a severe test for any dip because all of them were created by world famous chefs and the tasters were experts in judging and choosing fine foods from 60 different nations.

Here are the two top favorites:

GOURMETS CHIP DIP

1 8-oz. package cream cheese, softened
½ cup finely chopped pecans
½ cup finely minced celery hearts
4 strips crisp bacon, crumbled
4 tbsp. pineapple juice
⅛ tsp. salt

Blend all ingredients, adding water if needed to thin to chip dip consistency. Chill. Serve with potato chips.

EPICURES CHIP DIP

1 minced onion
2 egg, well beaten
1 small can tomato sauce
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 cup grated yellow cheese
½ tsp. chili powder
salt to taste

Saute onion in butter. Add tomato sauce, stirring constantly. Cook until bubbling, then add well-beaten eggs, salt and chili powder. Add grated cheese last and continue cooking until cheese melts. Serve hot in chafing dish with potato chips for dipping.

Which was the number one choice?

Here is a super delicious low cost main dish that will have your family and friends shouting "encore." It is easy to prepare and needs very little attention once it is in the oven. The recipe detailed below serves four lucky people.

MARY'S CHIP COATED LAMB

4 lamb shanks
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
¼ C finely chopped onion
½ C finely prepared stuffing mix
½ C chopped celery
¼ tsp. poultry seasoning
dash nutmeg
1 tbsp. soy sauce
1 tbsp. sesame seeds, toasted
1 tbsp. water
1 C All-purpose flour
2 large eggs slightly beaten
½ C milk
2 C finely crushed potato chips
½ C butter or margarine, melted

Baste:
1-3 C melted butter
½ C pinaepple juice

Garnish:
1 can (13½-oz.) pineapple slices
mint jelly

Have butcher remove bone from each lamb shank. Pound meat to flatten with edge of saucer. Lightly brown onion in 3 tablespoons butter. Add stuffing mix, potato chips, celery, poultry seasoning, nutmeg, soy sauce, sesame seeds and water.

Divide chip mixture into 4 parts and place in shanks where bones were removed. Roll up and fasten with skewer. Roll each lamb shank roll in flour, then dip in beaten egg and milk and roll in finely crushed potato chips.

Place chip covered lamb shanks in 1½ quart greased baking dish. Combine melted butter with ½ cup pineapple juice and warm over low heat. Pour over shanks and bake uncovered in 375 degree oven for 2 hours, until very tender, basting with sauce occasionally.

To serve, remove to warm platter and garnish with pineapple slices, centered with mint jelly, if desired.

Fine food is not necessarily the most expensive. Low-budget ingredients can be imaginatively assembled into a main dish which will appeal to the most finicky appetites. For example, a wonderful crust of sesame seeds and crushed potato chips is the basis for this memorable meat pie. Here is the recipe:

POTATO CHIP CRUST MEAT PIE

Crust

2 tbsp. sesame seeds
1¾ cups crushed potato chips
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Toast sesame seeds at 350 degres until light golden brown (5 to 8 minutes), stirring occasionally. Combine with potato chips. Lightly fold in beaten egg whites. Pat mixture into well greased 9-inch pie plate.

Meat Filling

1 lb. ground lean beef
½ cup chopped onion
2 tbsp. shortening
2 tbsp. flour
¼ tsp. black pepper
½ tsp. monosodium glutamate
1 8-oz. can tomato paste
1 3-oz. can mushrooms, drained
1 tsp. salt

Brown grocnd beef and onion in the shortening in skillet. Stir in flour, salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate. Add tomato paste and mushrooms. Cook over medium heat until slightly thickened, stirring frequently. Pour filling into chip crust lined pie plate and bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

Topping

1 egg
½ cup milk
½ tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups shredded cheddar cheese
½ cup crushed potato chips
½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients, except potato chips, and spread over pie. Sprinkle crushed potato chips over-all. Return to oven until cheese melts. Let stand 10 minutes before serving. Serves six.

Attention all creative cooks Here is an original recipe glorifying the meat ball, providing a special touch of imagination to their preparation. Try this recipe first on your family and plan to repeat it for your next company dinner for it's sure to bring raves on your culinary talents.

BEATS ALL MEAT BALLS

2 lbs. ground chuck steak
2 beaten eggs
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. celery salt
1 tsp. minced parsley
1 large minced onion
¼ cup catsup
4 cups crushed potato chips
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 small can evaporated milk
1 small bottle stuffed pimento olives — one for each meat ball
1 can onion soup
¼ cup butter or margarine

Mix all ingredients, except 1 cup of potato chips, butter and onion soup. Shape mix into balls about 1 inch in diameter, with an olive in each center. Brown on all sides in butter and cook on a very low heat about 30 minutes. Pour onion soup over browned meat balls and sprinkle remaining crushed potato chips over the top. Cook 10 minutes longer basting several times. Serves 8.

The best things to eat are not necessarily those requiring the most elaborate preparation. For example, we'll stand firm on the claim that the following dip mixes, created to serve with crisp potato chips, are simple enough for a child to prepare and delicious enough to win praises from a gourmet.

COFFEE LOVER'S DIP

2½ tbsp. instant coffee
1 pint sour cream
salt and pepper to taste

Mix. Chill. Serve with fresh, crunchy potato chips.

NIPPY CHIP DIP

1 pint sour cream
juice of ½ lemon
3-4 tbsp. grated horseradish
¾ cup applesauce

Mix all ingredients. Chill for several hours to blend flavors. Serve with potato chips for dipping.

SEA GREEN CHIP DIP

1 cup sour cream
¼ cup finely chopped parsley
¼ cup finely chopped chives
1 tbsp. chopped fresh dill
salt to taste

Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Chill. Serve with potato chips.

Americans Differ On Cheese Role

Traditionally, a cheese platter with at least three cheeses, can be served at the dinner table, after the salad and before the dessert. Calorie conscious Americans, however, usually serve cheese before dinner with drinks, or as the dessert with fruit or wine. Among cheese-lovers, there are not set rules for enjoying good cheese, and this is as it should be.

More than 100 varieties of cheese are imported. About 20-30 are easily obtained under refrigeration, in supermarkets. Others are usually available in fine food stores or in the multitude of specialty cheese shops cropping up throughout the country.

To help the novice gourmet choose from a wide selection, the following suggestions are offered. There are 8 categories of French cheese. Select two or three, for one meal, each from a different category i.e. Camembert (soft-ripened); Bonbel, Port Salut or St. Paulin (semi-soft), and Pyramid (goat cheese). Another good choice would be Coulommiers (soft-ripened), Grape (creme de gruyere type), and Pont l'Eveque (washed rind). A third choice — Boursault or Boursin (triple cremes also with herbs), Roquefort (the one and only of its kind), and St. Marcellin (another goat cheese). Or try this combination —Bleu de Brasse or Pipo Crem' (bleus). Brie or Bibress (soft-ripened), and Gourmandise or Nec Plus Ultra (creme de gruyere with cherry or walnut flavoring). Another choice — Comte or French Emmental (semi-hard), La Vache Qui Rit (creme de gruyere), and Ste. Maure (goat).

To serve cheese before dinner with drinks, unsalted crackers, biscottes (French rusk-type toast) or crusty bread are best; as a dessert, pears apples and grapes always create a symphony. A for wines, if you have a choice, serve a dry white or rose with the milder cheeses, a red with more zesty cheeses, and a full-bodied red wine with the stronger, more pungent cheeses.

Spaghetti's the Thing, After Mood Is Set

Mood music, soft lights, a glass of champagne, a touch of old Rome — will set the stage for a young man's evening with that special girl friend.

Choose the right records, dim the lights, bring along a bottle of champagne and for that Roman touch, make her a dish of spaghetti with clam sauce.

It's quite simple to make and takes almost no time at all.

At the market pick up an 8-ounce package of thin spaghetti, a small bottle or tin of olive oil, an 8-ounce can of minced clams, a head of fresh garlic and from the spice section, oregano and parsley flakes. If you enjoy cheese on pasta, you'll find grated Parmesan in the dairy section.

Half-fill a large pot with water, add some salt and bring to a boil. While you're waiting for the water to boil, prepare the rest of the ingredients.

Take off two cloves of garlic, peel and chop into small pieces. Open the containers of oregano and parsley flakes so they'll be ready, too.

Now open the can of clams.

When most men open a can, the lid usually falls into the can. That's exactly what you want. Get a small bowl and holding your thumb on the lid in the can, pour off the clam liquid into the bowl, leaving the clam pieces moist. Now dig out the lid and toss it away. The clams and the clam liquid are already separated and ready.

Cook the spaghetti, checking the instructions on the package for the boiling time.

Now for the clam sauce. Use a small saucepan. Amply cover the bottom with olive oil and over medium heat, heat the oil; then drop in the garlic. Brown it — don't burn it. Shake the pot a couple of times with a careless air to turn the garlic and impress the girl friend.

When the garlic is browned, add the moist clams. As soon as the clams are in the pot, take a good pinch of the oregano. Sprinkle this over the clams. Oregano is a strong herb so don't let it overwhelm the clams.

Now add the parsley flakes. Parsley has a mild flavor so you can use two healthy pinches, sprinkling it as you did the oregano.

Turn the heat up — all the way. When the mixture is really sizzling about 10 seconds, pour in the clam liquid from the bowl. This is the critical stage. When the sauce begins to climb up the side of the pan, remove it from the heat. After the sauce has calmed down, put the pan back on the heat and when the sauce begins to boil again, it's ready.

Dump the cooked spaghetti into a colander — that's a large strainer. Don't run cold water over it. It doesn't need washing and you could wind up with cold spaghetti.

Fork out the spaghetti onto a couple of plates directly from the colander and, with a ladle or large cooking spoon, cover with enough sauce for each portion.

Sprinkle with the parmesan cheese. French bread is ideal for sopping up sauce that is left in the plate. A tossed salad completes the meal.

Some Tricks If Child Won't Eat

No one knows exactly when young mothers started worrying about toddlers that seem to have no appetite. Certainly there is no sign that they are about to stop worrying. So, let's haul out the old record and crank up the player—er—the memory—because you've heard all this before. My typewriter can do this almost as if it were a computer.

All right, mother, you are saying, "If you're so smart, why don't you give us some answers, if there are any!"

There ARE some answers. At the risk of adding to the anxieties of mothers who have already become scared of their children by reading too much child psychology, I'll begin by saying that, in most instances, maternal worries are needless. No youngster with normal intelligence will starve when there is food to be had. But he may not always want to eat when, or what, or as much as his mother thinks he should.

Let's go back a bit and see why this is.

Before he was born, baby grew by taking nourishment from his mother's blood; the eating problem was hers. She had to eat qualitatively for two, to be sure baby got the nutrients he needed, but she had to watch her weight at the same time. Now baby is here, and he nurses or takes his bottle until he is old enough to sit up and feed himself. So far, no problem.

During these phases, baby has grown prodigiously. Before birth he grew from a microscopic cell to a seven-pound or better infant. In his first six months, he generally doubles his weight, which is pretty good growing, but not nearly as fast as the prenatal pace. In his second six months, he increases his weight, as a rule, by only 50 percent. After the first year, his rate of growth is slower and slower until he gets his first growth spurt between the third and fifth years. He needs proportionately less food than he did as a baby.

The toddler doesn't eat as much because he doesn't need to.

If mother accepts this fact, the problem evaporates. If not, it gets worse, the harder she tries to overcome it. All sorts of devices, from coaxing to punishment, from bribes to deprivations, are useless. The harder mother tries, the more stubborn the child becomes, because a new factor enters the picture. Never before has Junior had so much attention, so much solicitude, so much concern. And he loves it!

Shut off the spotlight. Remove him from the center of the stage. Be nonchalant. He'll eat when he needs to. If he doesn't, it's time to get medical advice, especially if the child becomes listless, fails to gain weight or gives other signs of possible illness.

Here's How A Tongue Is Done

This is everything you need to know when you cook a smoked tongue.

Smoked Tongue
Red Cabbage Creamed Potatoes
Green Beans
Fruit Bowl
Beverage

SMOKED TONGUE

Smoked tongue (3½-4 pounds)
1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice, do not include whole pepper pod
1 clove garlic, halved and slightly crushed
Cold water

Remove all wrapping from tongue and place in a 5-quart saucepot with pickling spice, garlic and enough water barely to cover. Bring to a boil; simmer, turning midway, until tongue feels quite soft when a fork is inserted and turned in its center—about 3 hours. Drain tongue; cool slightly. Cut off roots-fatty meat and gristle bunched on underside. Carefully peel off skin and discard. Slice thin from tip end, gradually angling knife so slices are cut in uniform fashion. Serve at once; refrigerate unsliced leftover tongue and serve cold or use in other dishes. Removed fat and gristle from roots and chop meat makes a fine sandwich filling.

Recipe For Shortbread Type Cookie

A good cook in New Rochelle, N.Y., contributes this recipe for a shortbread-type cookie.

Jean Watson's Almond Crescents
Tea or Coffee

JEAN WATSON'S ALMOND CRISCENTS

1 cup vegetable shortening
¼ pound (1 stick) butter
Confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla
3 cups unsifted regular flour, stir to aerate before measuring
1 package (6 ounces) natural whole almonds, blanched and ground fine

In a large mixing bowl cream the shortening, butter, 6 tablespoons confectioners' sugar, vanilla and the salt. Gradually work in the flour; then the almonds. Using 1 level tablespoon of the mixture for each, form into small crescent-shaped balls. Place, one inch apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake at 350 degrees until only very lightly browned—about 15 minutes. With a wide spatula carefully remove to wax paper sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Using a fine-mesh strainer, sift more confectioners' sugar over the cookies. Store in a tightly covered tin container. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Bake Custard For Dinner

Skillet Chops — Potatoes
Broccoli — Bread Tray
Baked Custard — Beverage

BAKED CUSTARD

2 large eggs
3 tablespoons mild-flavor honey
Pinch of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups milk, heated until bubbles appear around edge

In a small mixing bowl beat eggs just enough to combine yolks and whites. Add honey, salt and vanilla; beat gently to combine. Slowly stir into the very hot milk. Strain into three six-ounce glass custard cups. Set cups in a 9-inch square aluminum cake pan. Pour four cups of very hot tap water into the pan. Bake in a 325-degree oven for 40 minutes; knife inserted in center will not come out clean; center will set as custard cools. Chill and serve garnished with thawed frozen berries or peaches. Makes three servings.

'The Home-run Syndrome' of 21st Century

LE PACINI

(What follows is a dramatized extrapolation of the condition of baseball and The Home Run Syndrome entering the twenty-first century.)

They had said it would never be done again in ultra-modern times, even when Moscow and Florence were added to the International League, expanding the schedule to 184 games.

It would take a left-handed hitter, the experts said, with blinding speed, a deft touch, and the courage of his convictions.

Yet, with almost three weeks of the season still remaining, on that day of October 1, 1999, 100,000 people crowded the mammoth domed Yukon Stadium, many of them just to see if Willie Goodin — swift, deft and courageous — could get "two of 'em," as the colorful sportscasters were often wont to put it.

Two of them would indeed break the record a full week before Babe Keeler had done it 15 years before, and then Willie Goodin would certainly hold the record without fear of controversy, extra games or not.

In an on-field television interview before the game, Willie had said, "I'll just be up there swingin' natural, trying' to help the club," this despite the fact that his team, the Montreal Mounties, was in twelfth place, five games out of eleventh and 45 away from the league leading Yankees.

Manager Nick Nanook of the Juno Huskies had elected to go with lefty Herb Spence, reputedly the fastest port-sider in the game, and the league's most effective hurler, with a 5.95 ERA.

"If Goodin breaks it," Nanook had said to reporters before entering the clubhouse that morning, "he'll deserve it. When you hit one of Spence's swift ones, it's hard as hell to keep it from flying out. That's," Nick had added with a wink that wasn't for the record, "if you can stand in there long enough to get a good look at it."

On Willie's first trip to the plate, Spence had reached back and sunk one directly into Willie's rib protective gear. Although Willie couldn't take a free base because the ball had struck below the armpits, this had apparently unnerved Spence, as it would any control pitcher. As long as Willie could swing, there was the danger that Spence could be the pitcher on whom the record had been broken, and no pitcher in baseball would want that "distinction." Spence knew that he would have to bear down.

His next pitch had sailed at Willie's head — right where Spence had wanted it — and Willie had instinctively thrown his hands and bat up to protect himself. The ball had struck the bat's knob and dribbled along the third base line. Nimble Willie had quickly pulled himself up and used his blinding speed to beat the ball out.

He had tied it! Willie Goodin, luck or not, had hit 60 singles in a single season, tying Babe Keeler's ultra-modern record!

Spence seemed completely shaken and was immediately replaced by a calm right-hander who specialized in replacing pitchers lifted for psychological reasons.

As Spence's replacement warmed up, a sexy Italian movie starlet clad in a replica of a baseball uniform in which only the hat was authentic (shorts replacing knickers, longblack net stockings replacing sanitary socks and leggings, high heels replacing spikes, and nothing replacing the jersey . . . sequins were glued on her back to form a number 7), took the field as had been prearranged, kissed Willie, presented him with the retrieved record-breaking ball, posed for pictures solo, and then hustled off the field shouting, "Atta baby, Willie." After a brief fireworks display, play had been resumed.

The entire game, from that moment on, had revolved around the question of whether Willie would break the record on that day, or perhaps allow the suspence to linger for several more. One certainty, the crowd sensed, was that the breaking of the record and the hailing of Willie Goodin as the greatest singles hitter in ultra-modern times was inevitable.

During almost the whole course of the remainder of the game, it had appeared as if Willie and the crowd would have to resign themselves to the inevitable rather than the certain, which was, indeed, a small and insignificant line to draw.

Willie was making outs. He had hit back to the pitcher, popped to the catcher, walked twice, been hit in the head and taken a free base, and had even, amazingly, struck out. Some were wondering if, ironically, on the very day Willie had broken the record, he would relinquish his league batting lead, which had stood at the theretofore comfortable .285.

But perhaps more important, the Mounties had fallen behind, 18-15, as they had been able to muster only six home runs as against Juno's nine. What had been worse, Juno had collected two home runs at better than 500 feet (505 and 551, as the electronic measuring device had recorded them), which, of course, caused them to be counted as two runs apiece, rather than the conventional one.

As if an omen, the rains had started just as the Mounties had been coming up for their last licks. The stadium dome had been closed and the artificial lighting turned on. And though this lighting was fine, real daylight is always better when one team is down three runs in the ninth inning and the other team has a bevy of fast-ball pitchers.

This theory appeared to have been borne out when the first two batters had gone out. But then, quickly, the bases had been loaded, and Willie Goodin stood calmly at the plate waving his bludgeon-like 31-ounce bat menacingly at the latest Husky pitcher.

There had followed a summit meeting on the mound, shortly after which lefty Lonnie Lewis, who specialized in throwing to left-handed batters with two outs in the late innings and his team holding a two-to-four-run lead, was summoned.

It was a dramatic setting for Willie to break the record, which he did, looping the first pitch just beyond the shortstop's reach and in front of the diving left-fielder. The runners had been going with two outs, so two runs scored, the Italian starlet and fireworks repeated their bits, and Montreal eventually lost, 18-17, as the last batter had struck out against a right hander who specialized in pitching the last inning with his team ahead a run or tied. Juno strategy had worked perfectly.

But they hadn't stopped Willie Goodin, who still had some 20 games in which to add to his record; games which, incidentally, he never played.

In a boxed story just beneath the one whose headlines proclaimed Willie's great fete, there appeared the announcement by Montreal general manager Billy Laine that Willie Goodin had been given his outright release.

"Willie was a fine man," Laine said in a hurried press conference, "a credit to the game. But a player who leads the league in hitting and breaks singles records is a luxury a team can't afford when it's working with a short 10-man pitching staff.

When you analyize it, Willie's never hit more than 25 home runs in a season, and how often does he ever drive in more than two runs at a time?

"What we really need right now is a big middle inning right-hander who pitches well in a high wind."

Wrestlers In U.S. Open

Steve McBride and Don Barbitta, top wrestlers in San Mateo County, were recently chosen to wrestle in the U.S. Open Invitational Wrestling Meet in Nebraska.

Steve and Don, both Westmoor varsity wrestlers who had helped the Rams gain their fourth consecutive NPL title, were picked because of their showing at the regional AAU tournament.

Although Steve and Don didn't win anything, they faced the best in the country, including top Olympic wrestlers who wrestled in Tokyo four years ago.

A Dramatic Spike Ending Is Forecast

Like a dual meet whose outcome hinges on the mile relay, a dramatic finish is shaping up to the North Peninsula League track season.

The unbeaten Westmoor Rams rolled to their sixth consecutive dual meet victory yesterday with a 66½-60½ triumph over South San Francisco, Westmoor's chief rival for the league title.

While the Warriors lost the meet, they still stand a good chance of taking the whole ball of wax before the season is over, in two weeks.

South S.F.'s quality performers should continue to take their first place points in the league championships, while Westmoor's depth will be diminished by other league rivals. If the Rams finish second or higher in the league finals, the Rams will take the title. South S.F. now has a 4-2 dual meet record, and can add three more points by winning the championship meet.

Top marks in the competition between the two contenders came in the hurdles, where South S.F.'s Ashland Whitfield who clocked 14.8 and 19.5 in winning the hurdles. Russ Cottrell took both sprints, with marks of 10 flat and 22.2 while Scott Ellington won the high jump at 6-1. Westmoor's best performance was a 52.2 quarter-mile by Mike Clabby.

In other NPL meets yesterday, El Camino beat Jefferson, 81-45, and Oceana routed tiny Half Moon Bay 102-21.

Jefferson won the NPL's Class B title with a 74-53 win over the Colts as Jeff's Florito Flores won both hurdles and pole vaulted 12-6 for a league record. Jack Beighouse set an NPL shot put mark with a 50-11 effort.

Duel Was a Dandy: Camino Drops SSF

It's not often that a high school baseball game turns out to be a "pitchers' duel," but that's what happened in Friday's North Peninsula Athletic League competition when El Camino High School defeated South San Francisco 1-0.

Dave Gorman of El Camino and Bruce Brian of South San Francisco threw 191 pitches between them, and 126 of them were strikes. Each hurler walked only one. The sole score of the game came on a fourth inning home run by Colt first sacker Frank Lucia.

"It was just a great high school baseball game," said losing Warrior coach Bob Brian, father of the losing pitcher.

El Camino now has an undisputed hold on first place in the NPL.

Jefferson was knocked back to third place by — of all teams — last place Terra Nova.

Tiger hurler Bob Turner finally got the support he needed to win a ball game.

In the bottom half of the fourth, Mike Rawlings walked and was sacrificed to third by Chris Sidley. Rawlings scored on a wild pitch. The winning run came across when Humphrey came home on an error.

Turner went the distance, striking out eight and walking one.

In Friday's final NPL tilt, Westmoor hurler Steve Bach won his fourth game in a row as the Rams beat Oceana 3-0 to move into second place, a half game ahead of Jefferson.

In the first half of the third, Ram second baseman Gordy Contreras singled, went to second on a passed ball, and to third on Steve Bach's ground out. Doug Matgen hit an infield single and Contreras held. Steve Gilmore followed with still another infield hit, and the bases were loaded. Then Gary Soules grounded out to force in the first run, which was really all Westmoor needed. The Rams added insurance runs in the fifth and sixth.

South S. F. Grabs Sixth Varsity Swimming Crown

The athletic monopoly of South San Francisco High School continued unbroken Friday in the North Peninsula League swimming championships, leading Warrior foes to wonder if anyone short of the Justice Department will stop the Industrial City express this season.

South S.F. won its sixth consecutive varsity swim title by amassing 101 points in the meet held in the Warrior pool and also took the NPL Class C championship as well.

Thus the Warrior mermen followed the familiar pattern established by the school's football and basketball teams, who also reigned as NPL champions during their respective seasons.

A total of one dozen records were broken in the finals, including six in the Class B meet whose championship went to runnerup Oceana on a point basis. South S.F. outscored the Sharks by five points in the finals, but lost the crown on the basis of dual meets held earlier South S.F.'s Class C title was its second in a row.

Varsity records fell in the 100 butterfly, 100 and 400 freestyles, and in the 400 freestyle relay, where the host Warriors swam to a 3:41.2 clocking.

Ed Toatley smashed the butterfly mark with a 1:02.6 effort; Ron Starr of Terra Nova set a 100 freestyle standard with a 52.9 mark and Steeve Morgan, also of Terra Nova, won the 400 freestyle in 4:42.5 for another new record. South S.F.'s Don Appleton set two meet standards in the Class B competition.

Half Moon Bay and Westmoor did not compete.

Terra Nova Downs Rams

In frosh-soph baseball action Friday, the Terra Nova Tigers edged out the Westmoor Rams, 7-6, at Westmoor.

The game wasn't decided until the last inning, when Dan Muth of Terra Nova figured in three runs, batting in two and scoring one.

Appointments To Academies Told

Appointments to the U.S. Service Academies were announced recently by Congressman Paul N. McCloskey. These young men will report for duty at the respective Academies the latter part of June, 1968.

"All applicants," Congressman McCloskey reported, "took a series of tests together with a rigorous physical examination. They were also interviewed by committees of Academy graduates, who made recommendations to me:

"I am proud that I have the honor and privilege," the Congressman continued, "to be in a position to appoint these fine young men to the Academy of their choice."

The appointees to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, are John T. Byrd, 1057 Sycamore Drive, Millbrae, the son of Mrs. Catherine Murray; Merlin E. Dyball 280 Duck Court, Foster City, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dial; Thomas L. Jones, 432 Heathcliff Drive, Pacifica, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, Sr.; Mark E. Nichols, 405 Darrell Road, Hillsborough, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Nichols; Brooks A. Thiele, 1608 C Marina Court, San Mateo, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thiele; and Dennis Walsh, 3131 Rivera Drive, Burlingame, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira P. Walsh.

Those who will be entering the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, New York, are William F. McLaughlin, 180 Irving Street, Daly City, whose parents are Brigadier General and Mrs. John D. McLaughlin; and Michael J. Whitaker 381 Camino al Lago, Menlo Park, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Whitaker.

"Originally no vacancy was available for an appointee to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado," McCloskey said, "but due to the fact that one San Mateo County young man resigned from the Academy about ten days ago, we were able to fill the vacancy thus created."

James R. Penrose, 518 Hiller Street, Belmont, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Penrose, has received the appointment to the Air Force Academy.

Pacifica To Computerize Payrolls

Pacifica councilmen Wednesday authorized City Manager C. W. Masonheimer to "work out the details" of a proposed arrangement with the Purity Stores Company for electronic data processing of the city's payrolls.

Masonheimer has recommended that the payroll accounting be "farmed out" to a data processing center, and the Purity Company has reportedly agreed to make necessary changes in its process and purchase new equipment to handle the job.

The manager said the city's accounting department would be free to prepare "timely and more complete reports" on other matters if relieved of the payroll preparation.

He said the change would not result in elimination of any personnel from the city staff, "but would allow them to do a better job."

In other business Wednesday, the council postponed action on awarding a contract for construction of the new police station in order to consult with architects on the project.

A number of bids on the projects have been received, and the contract will probably be awarded at the next regular council meeting, according to the city manager.

Action on an agreement with a consulting firm for assistance in preparing the city's insurance program was also postponed until the next meeting.

Trailer Show Benefit Due

Opening day of the fourth annual Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Show on May 15 at the Cow Palace, will be a benefit for Buena Vista Chapter of ORT (Organization of Rehabilitation through Training).

The huge mobile home — which will feature the newest in design and decoration ideas for travel homes — is slated at the Cow Palace through May 19.

Serving on the Committee from Buena Vista ORT are Mrs. Ernest Michels, Mrs. Robert Rudee, Mrs. David Monasch, Mrs. Joseph Gottfried and Mrs. Larry Nissim.

Smokey Fire In Apartment

A stubborn, smokey blaze damaged a one-bedroom apartment in South San Francisco early on Saturday. Investigators estimate damage to both the building and contents at more than $2,500.

No one was injured in the pre-dawn fire, which apparently started when a burning cigarette was dropped onto the bed hours before the occupant left the apartment.

Terra Nova Route Plan

A resolution authorizing improvement of a short stretch of Terra Nova Boulevard in Pacifica was approved at Wednesday's council meeting.

Council action came after several residents of the area, adjacent to Ortega School, pointed out the 150-foot section of street is hazardous to school children in its present condition.

The section is unpaved, and sidewalks and gutters have not been installed, according to the manager.

Fight Ban On Liquor

A Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Commission policy prohibiting "the consumption of alcoholic beverages" at the city's recreation centers met with opposition from a member of the council Wednesday night.

Councilman Daniel J. Modena requested the section banning liquor from the city property be stricken from the commission's policy memorandum submitted for council approval this week.

"I think this ruling will result in a decrease in utilization of such facilities as the Oddstad Recreation building if it is allowed to stand," Modena said.

He said the recreation buildings are frequently utilized for adult dances and other functions "not involving minors," and the liquor ruling, for practical purposes, would "outlaw" such usage.

The policy statement was returned to commission members "for further study."

Gunman At D.C. Store

A middle-aged gunman held up McGraw's Drug Store, 6300 Mission Street, Daly City Thursday and fled after grabbing an estimated $300 from the cash register.

Police said the gunman, armed with a revolver, walked into the store at 7:35 p.m. and ordered an unidentified clerk to "hand over all the money" in the register.

Described as a Latin-type, 45-years-old, 5-feet, 8-inches tall, the gunman fled on foot, police said.

D.C. Man Is Injured

John P. McLaughlin, 18, of 75 Marshall Way, Daly City, suffered serious head injuries last Wednesday in an auto crash atop San Bruno Mountain.

Highway patrolmen said the youth was riding in a car driven by Daniel R. Cary, 22, of 269 First Avenue, Daly City, who escaped with minor injuries.

Cary told patrolmen that he was driving his sports car south on Radio Road at 6:50 p.m. when a tire blew out. The auto flipped over and crashedinto an embankment. McLaughlin was thrown out.

McLaughlin was reported in fair condition in Mary's Help Hospital today.

MEMO FROM: MAT REIS

We honestly feel it's to your advantage to talk with us before you purchase or lease a new car

Just the other day a couple came in and said, "we're so glad we came to you." They'd shopped around a bit and then came in and chatted with one of our salesmen who outlined a deal on a new Mercury. Nothing final . . . just a chat. Two days later they came back and drove home in their new Mercury. This is nothing new to us. We know that in order to stay ahead of the competition we must give the best possible deal. We do this. And we back it with the assurance that the buyer is dealing with an old, established firm who's reputation is made every day. Call it bending over backward . . . call it service . . . it all adds up to caring about you. And we do. By the way, this week we're featuring the All New '68 Montego for just $2389 ($51.89 mo. after normal down) and the '68 Cougar for $2789 ($59.89 mo. after normal down). We are open today, Sunday.

Come in this weekend . . . we're sure you'll be glad you did.

July is for Girls and August is for Boys at The Mountain Camp

We're planning right now for the 1968 summer, our third. If you think your son or daughter would enjoy a couple of weeks in a relaxed, warm-hearted camp in the redwoods, it's none too soon for you to plan, too.

The Mountain Camp is secluded in 2,400 acres of Santa Cruz Mountain redwoods only an hour and a half from the mid-Peninsula. We have a lake, a trout stream, a dandy big lodge and lots of camper cabins, great food, and a program of outdoor activities that teaches something useful as well as being lots of fun. The age bracket is 8 to 14.

TERMS OF SALE

HIGHEST BIDDER: The bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of said bonds to the respective maturity dates thereof at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the district. The lowest net interest cost shall be computed on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD: The Board of Supervisors will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for receipt of proposals; unless such time of award is waived by the successful bidder.

PROMPT DELIVERY: Delivery of said bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of said County as soon as the bonds can be prepared which it is estimated will be within 30 days from the day of sale, but not prior to the date of the bonds.

RIGHT OF CANCELLATION: The successful bidder shall have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the bonds are not tendered for delivery within 60 days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County, and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of SAN MATEO CITY SCHOOL DISTRICT of San Mateo County."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $10,000.00, drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said District from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the District on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the District. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail, upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said District, or the title of the officers . . to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.
